REPUBLIC SET UP AT SERBIA

King Peter and Queen Deposed, According to Cable Dispatch From Rome

London, April 2.—A republic has been proclaimed at Belgrade, capital of Serbia, said a wireless dispatch from Rome this afternoon.

The Karageorgevitch dynasty (the ruling family of Serbia) has been deposed, said a later wireless dispatch from Rome, quoting information received there from Agram.

The following statement was issued by the Serbian Legation this afternoon:

"We know nothing about any report that a republic was proclaimed at Belgrade. It is nothing but lies. Serbia will never be a republic."

Peter I. is King of Serbia, having ascended the throne on June 2, 1903. Prince George, the eldest son, renounced his right to the throne on March 29, 1909, on account of various escapades in which he had taken part. Prince Alexander thus became heir-apparent.

The founder of the ruling family was Kara-Georgevitch ("Black George") Petrovitch, who, in 1804, was proclaimed commander-in-chief in Serbia. He was murdered in 1817, leaving two sons, Alexis and Alexander.

In 1842 Alexander was chosen the reigning prince by the Skupschtina (Parliament), and the title was confirmed by the Sublime Porte of Turkey. In 1858 Alexander had to abdicate, and he died in exile.

King Peter is the third of his ceeded to the throne when his predecessor, King Alexander, was murdered in the palace at Belgrade.

Late Cable Bulletins!

London, April 2.—The indemnity imposed upon Germany by the allies will probably be between $20,000,000,000 and $25,000,000,000, said a responsible news agency dispatch from Paris today.

London, April 2.—Johannesburg is in the grip of Bolshevist agitation and strikes. The city is without lights. No trains or street cars are running and all activity is paralyzed.

MANY KILLED IN STRIKE RIOTS IN GERMANY

Amsterdam, April 2.—Violent street fighting, in which many persons have been killed, is raging between government troops and strikers at Stuttgart, said a dispatch from that city this afternoon. Armored cars and machine guns are being used.

By International News Service.

Copenhagen, April 2.—A serious general strike, involving 150,000 workers, is in full swing at Berlin, said a dispatch from that city today.

A state of siege has been proclaimed in the Ruhr district, where a strike is in progress. Food riots and sabotage are raging everywhere.

Bloody street fighting has taken place at Frankfort-on-Main. Fourteen persons were killed by machine gun fire.

In Westphalia a large number of towns have been occupied by government troops.

No food relief is being sent into the affected districts.

London, April 2.—Three persons were killed and many were wounded in a clash between government troops and Spartacist demonstrators at Stuttgart, said a news agency dispatch from Copenhagen today, quoting the newspaper Achtur Abendblatt.

Martial law has been declared at Stuttgart.

The situation in Wuerttemberg is critical. The bourgeois are on a "counter strike there."

FITZ WAITS CALL TO STAND

Congressman in New York to Welcome Lipton, but Ready to Testify

Wrangling between counsel and introduction of old-rehashed testimony for the benefit of the record featured the reopening of the Tague-Fitzgerald election hearing in the Federal building today.

The morning session, due to have begun at 11 o'clock, was delayed until nearly 12:30, at which hour a comparatively small and apparently very much bored crowd flocked into the hearing room.

BURLEW ON STAND.

Melancthon W. Burlen, chairman of the board of election commissioners for the city of Boston, was the only witness heard during the morning session. The greater part of the time was taken up by questions put to the witness by Timothy F. Callahan, Fitzgerald's attorney, and vigorous objections to their form being entered by Joseph F. O'Connell, Tague's counsel.

Conditions required by law during balloting were what Burlen was called upon to detail. Almost the first question to which Attorney O'Connell objected was one by which Attorney Callahan sought to learn if a police officer always was present during the balloting.

A discussion between counsel followed, in which the witness apparently was forgotten. This discussion Attorney O'Connell terminated by announcing that he was not on the witness stand.

A few minutes later Attorney Callahan turned on O'Connell and asked him to "behave himself, at least." Alleged comments made by O'Connell were the cause of this fracas, which soon subsided.

Shortly afterward Attorney O'Con-

BEVERLY BOOSTS HIGH SCHOOL TUITION FEES

Beverly, April 2.—The high cost of schooling, or rather the higher cost of high schooling, was accentuated here today when the Beverly School Board voted that hereafter tuition in the high school for out of town students will be $70 instead of $60. A conference was arraigned for next Thursday evening to consider increased salaries for school teachers.

WAR BRIDES ARRIVE ON LINER BOHEMIAN

At top, Mrs. Ivy Ellen Fauteck, who married the chief cook of the torpedo destroyer Trippe. Below, Miss Flora M. Stanley, at left, and Miss Hannah Louise Parker, who are to wed soldiers.

Numbering among its passengers three war brides, and an Australian sergeant trying to get from Paris to Melbourne in fifty days, and carrying the most valuable freight cargo that has come to Boston from Liverpool since the war began, the Leyland liner Bohemian slipped into her berth at East Boston pier early today.

Among the war brides was Mrs. Charles M. Browne, wife of Charles M. Browne of Philadelphia, who married her while she was Marion Routledge, a volunteer worker in the canteen he conducted in Liverpool. Mrs. Browne is daughter of Captain Routledge of the British steamer Denby Range, sunk in collision last November.

Several brides-elect were aboard the Bohemian, among them Miss Flora May Stanley of England, who is on her way to Mobile, Ala., to wed Captain P. F. Savonius, an attache of the United States Shipping Board, whom she has not seen for three years.

Their romance antedates the war, Miss Stanley said, and official duties

CITY LABORERS PENSION ACT OPPOSED

The Finance Commission today in a communication to the Mayor declared itself against any increase in the pension roll of the city.

The act which the commission opposes, and which has been accepted by the City Council, would retire all city laborers at the age of sixty on half-pay. The act would affect only those laborers who had been in city service twenty-five years.

The present maximum pension is $360.

The commission points out that on June 1, this year, the laborers will be increased fifty cents a day, making their day's pay $3.50 and skilled laborers $4.50. This means, according to the report, an increase in the laborers' pension roll from 50 per cent. to 93 per cent.

The act is at present before Mayor Peters to accept or reject. He has until next Sunday to veto the measure.

STATUE OF BROOKS TO STAY

Full Bench Dismisses Petition to Remove Memorial to Bishop

The St. Gaudens statue of Phillips Brooks will continue to remain in its present position on the grounds of Trinity Church, the full bench of the Supreme Court today having dismissed the bill of Charles W. Eliot, president-emeritus of Harvard College; Henry L. Higginson, Rev. George A. Gordon, Edward H. Clements and Rev. Leighton Parks of New York, surviving members of a committee of thirty-one who received contributions for the memorial to Bishop Brooks.

That committee asked authority of the court to remove the statue to some other place, presumably the Theological School at Cambridge, but the court says that a charitable trust was created, and no exigency has arisen when it has become impracticable to execute the terms of the trust.

APPROVED PRATT MODEL.

St. Gaudens died before his work was completed, and by arrangement his wife completed the statue of Bishop Brooks, which was turned over to the committee in 1905. When the monument was paid for there

KILLS FATHER OF 96 YEARS; SENT TO ASYLUM

Hopkinton, April 2.—Michael Hartnett, ninety-six years of age, is dead here as the result of a dose of Paris green, administered to him as a "tonic" by his son, Thomas, aged fifty-four, late yesterday.

After giving his father the poison, the son ran to the town authorities, told what he had done, and said that he, too, had taken a dose of the "medicine." He was placed under arrest and a physician called. It was found that he had not taken poison. The death of the father occurred within a short time.

In the Framingham court today the son Thomas was examined by Dr. L. P. Playse and Dr. Palmer and pronounced insane. He was committed to Westboro State Hospital.

The father had been known for years as the town's oldest inhabitant. He is survived by a daughter, who is also in an institution, and by one brother.

Weston Must Pay $5,000 in Breach of Promise Case

Horace Greeley Weston will have to pay a verdict of $5,000 returned against him by a jury in the Superior Court for Norfolk County in a suit of Mildred White for breach of promise. The full bench of the Supreme Court today overruled exceptions taken by White and ordered judgment on the verdict.

In the report of the case by Judge McLaughlin to the Supreme Court it appeared that an acquaintance between Weston and Miss White began in 1910 and continued to January 20, 1917; that the defendant denied having promised to marry the plaintiff. Weston later married Alice B. Kelley.

MAYOR OPPOSED TO COUNCIL OF SIXTEEN

Tells Members of Charter Association He Is Against Increase From Nine

Mayor Peters today told members of the Charter Association and others that he was emphatically opposed to the proposed legislation which would increase the City Council from nine to sixteen members.

He assured them that he would issue a statement to that effect, though he would not take any active participation in the opposition at the State House.

The delegation which called upon him today urging him to take immediate action included Thomas J. Kenny, George R. Nutter, Robert T. Bottomly, John A. Sullivan and George A. Coleman.

Mr. Bottomley said:

"We have urged the Mayor to publicly declare himself against the proposed act. He has agreed to do so. He has emphatically stated to us that he is opposed to it, and in a public statement he will give his reasons.

"One point I would like to make clear. Please note that ten years ago the net debt of the city was something like $18,000,000. Today it is around $21,000,000. This decrease could have never been accomplished with a council of sixteen members. Why? Just because each of the sixteen councillors would be asking for concessions for their districts all the time, and this would necessitate continual loans—more money—and that's what we want to get away from."

WIRELESS BY 101ST LEADER

Governor and Mayor Respond With Greetings to Ship Speeding Home

The first word from Colonel Edward L. Logan of the 101st Regiment, Yankee Division, reached Boston this afternoon when he wirelessed greetings from the steamship America, in mid-ocean, bearing him and his regiment to Boston.

His greetings were sent to Governor Coolidge, Mayor Peters, as well as to James J. Phelan.

He sent this message to Governor Coolidge:

"Greetings from the 101st now in mid-ocean.

(Signed) "LOGAN."

A few moments later Governor Coolidge sent the following radio to Colonel Logan and his men of the 101st:

"Massachusetts extends you and your command the warmest welcome and glories in your achievements.

(Signed) "COOLIDGE."

To Mayor Peters Colonel Logan wirelessed:

"Greetings to good old Boston and to you, from 101st Infantry."

Mayor Peters, speaking for himself and the people of Boston immediately sent the following to Colonel Logan:

"Boston reciprocates your greetings and welcomes the 101st Infantry and its leader. You cannot come too fast. (Signed) "PETERS."

Colonel Logan's greetings to James J. Phelon at No. 60 Congress street read:

"Our happiness increases daily. With you before end of week. Logan."

GUARD AGAINST SPECULATORS WHO SEEK 26TH PARADE TICKETS

RIGID RULES TO MAKE PLAN ENTIRELY 'SCANDAL PROOF'

"Ticket speculators will be eliminated and ticket distribution made scandal-proof in awarding seats for the Victory parade of the Yankee Division," said Herbert Parker today, speaking for the committee which is handling this phase of the big spectacle.

"Neither money nor social influence nor political position will get a single ticket among the 75,000 which are at our disposal, if we can help it, and I think we can."

Mr. Parker made his statement between conferences of the committee on distribution of tickets, and explained that the original plan of awarding seats had been slightly modified.

DON'T ADD TO WORK.

"The only persons entitled to ask for tickets," continued Mr. Parker, "are members of the Yankee Division, men recently discharged from the division after service in the present war and relatives of the boys who made the supreme sacrifice. Other applications will not only not be considered, but we hope people will not annoy a hard-working committee by sending us such useless requests.

"The soldier makes the application, naming those he wishes to get the pasteboards which are his due. We send the tickets to them in plenty of time."

It is considered improbable that each soldier can be given more than two tickets, as there are about 30,000 men in the division and only 75,000 seats in the grandstands. A considerable portion of the 30,000 men are Westerners and Southerners, who are unlikely to apply for tickets. But unless the soldier names somebody whom he wants to get his tickets he will not be given any. Speculators will not find it possible to buy up the coveted pasteboards from Westerners who have no friends in Boston.

FAVOR ATHLETIC CARNIVAL.

There is some dissatisfaction in certain quarters over the arrangement, it is known, but the idea is meeting with favor among the soldiers and their families, and it will be adhered to.

Mr. Parker today made it plain that special efforts would be made for the comfort of the relatives of fighting men who have died in the service, and that they would be extended every possible courtesy in the award of seats.

Next to the announcement regarding tickets, the biggest development in the parade preparations today was the favor with which the idea of a big athletic entertainment after the street procession is meeting. This matter has been taken up by the athletic officer of the Northeastern Department and will probably go through.

Mayor Peters' committee is anxiously awaiting the telegram from Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt which will announce that a flotilla of war craft will be assigned to Boston Harbor for the welcoming of the 26th. It is regarded as certain that this concession will be made.

Hotel men were in conference considering the housing problem which the event will present.

There will be but one official program issued for the parade, and this will be gotten out under the direction of A. L. Winship, representing both the city and State committees.

RAILROAD FACILITIES ADEQUATE

Transportation Agent F. J. McNamara at army headquarters denied today that Boston railroad facilities were unable to transport more than a brigade daily from Camp Devens to Boston. A brigade is 8,422 men.

"We can handle a whole division on the railroad in one day, if necessary," said Agent McNamara. "Why, we have seven routes from Ayer to Boston. There's Boston direct on the B. & M.; B. & A. through Worcester, New Haven from Fitchburg to Framingham to B. & A. to Boston; Clinton Junction, Massachusetts Central, through Lowell; Southern division, Lowell through Portland division and other routes if need be.

"The report from Washington that Boston could not handle the division on the railroad in one day is wide of the truth. We can handle the division in two sections easily, and, as I said before, we could take the division from Camp Devens to Boston in one day. But this plan would necessitate our getting more coaches from outside of the State.

"Why is it that somebody is always found complaining about our railroad facilities right here in Boston? They are excellent. Why not stop this talk about handling the division and let us get to work without any further discussion."

MUST GUARD CHILDREN.

Colonel Albert S. Williams, chief of staff at the Northeastern Department, warned parents today not to allow school children and those of tender age to stand in the front line along the route of the parade.

"There must be some place reserved for children of tender age to see the parade, some central spot set apart for this purpose. Parents should caution their children not to try to see the parade from the front line."

In speaking of other matters about the parade, the colonel said:

"We are receiving hundreds of letters from wives, relatives and friends of officers and soldiers of the 26th Division requesting that they be permitted to be present on the dock when the troops arrive at Boston.

"We wish the people of New England to understand the reason we cannot grant these requests. The Mt. Vernon, he first ship to arrive, for instance, has over 7,000 soldiers on board. This is a great number of men and they have to be taken off the ship practically at one time, lined up on Commonwealth Pier and inspected, and the 7,000 men alone will practically fill up the pier.

"If we were to grant passes to every one who wished them, there would be as many visitors on the pier as soldiers, and the consequence would be there would be no room for the troops to execute their necessary movements and be loaded on the trains to go to Camp Devens. It would mean that the arrival of these men at Camp Devens would be delayed many hours, and instead of standing around on the dock for an hour with a heavy pack on their shoulders they would have to wait many hours.

ASKS PUBLIC CO-OPERATION.

"Besides this, experience has shown that in a great many instances the men are still infected with 'cooties,' and there is great danger that these pests will be spread among the civilian population. Orders from the War Department are very strict on the subject that they are sent to Comp Devens and disinfected.

"When people write here for passes and we have to refuse them, we went them to understand why the refusal is made, and ask that they take it in the proper spirit and realize that we have a great many difficulties confronting us and that we need the good will and co-operation of New England."

Boston to See but 60 Per Cent. of the Yankee Division in Parade

Boston will see only 60 per cent. of the 26th Division on parade here, a majority of whom are New England men, accordin gto dispatches from Washington, which state that Secretary of War Baker finds it impracticable to demobilize the complete division at Camp Devens.

23,330 HOMEWARD BOUND.

The remaining 40 per cent., representing replacements, according to present schedule, are to be sent to demobilization camps near their homes, which in this case are scattered all over the country.

It is also stated that examination of rail facilities between this city and Camp Devens has disclosed the fact that not more than a brigade of men a day can be transported without completely crippling the transportation system.

With the sailing of the 51st Artillery Brigade from Brest, aboard the transport Mongolia, 23,330 members of the Yankee Division are now homeward bound.

The Mount Vernon will probably not arrive in Boston Harbor until Saturday, although previous reports had her due on Friday. General Harry Hale, commander of the division, is on this vessel with the headquarters troops, 101st Engineers and a few casual troops.

Closely following the Mount Vernon are the America, Agamemnon and the Mongolia.

The America, bearing Colonel Logan and the 101st Infantry Regiment, complete, is expected off Boston Light about 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. On the same ships is General Shelton, commanding the 51st Infantry Brigade, the man who guided the 101st and 102d Infantry Regiments through most of their hardest fighting.

Colonel Hume of the 103d Infantry and most of his regiment are among those on board. One company of the 101st Engineers, as well as 165 casual officers, are also on the America.

A dozen or more ships will greet the transports far down the harbor.

Sees Peril to U. S. in Japanese Holdings in Mexico

New York, April 2.—"A foreign fleet in Magdalena Bay, just off Lower California, could bombard our Western coast and seize the Panama Canal within twenty-four hours."

Such is the warning of former U. S. Senator James A. O'Gorman regarding the reported sale of 800,000 acres of Mexican territory, near the American border, to Japanese interests.

Mr. O'Gorman said:

"Immediate alarm I believe to be unwarranted, but it is natural to presume that those who are fighting the Wilson League of Nations plan should call attention again to the menace to the Monroe Doctrine and our right to enforce that doctrine on this continent."

Hotel Men Arrange to Accommodate Great Crowd of Visitors

Definite plans for taking care of the enormous crowds expected in this city on parade week were made by hotel men today at a meeting at the rooms of the association at the Colonial Building. Archie Hurlburt presided. Representatives of the Boston hotels discussed many possibilities which may arise in their part of the entertainment arrangements.

Plans made before the change of the date of the parade were discarded. The change of date had resulted in much trouble and inconvenience for hotel men, as many hotels had already booked reservations for the first date announced and these reservations had to be changed.

According to Mr. Hurlburt, one of the greatest crowds in Boston's history, if not the greatest, will crowd every available room on parade week. The food problem will also be tremendous, he says.

EWWARDS INQUIRES FROM MAINE ABOUT TROOPSHIPS

Major-General Clarence R. Edwards called up army headquarters today from Skowhegan, Me., and told Captain Henry D. Chandler, his aids, to keep him informed about the sighting of any transport carrying units of the Twenty-Sixth Division. Captain Chandler at once sent back word to the general that no transport had been communicated with by radio.

COUNSEL CLASH AT FITZ-TAGUE HEARING

nell, apparently losing all interest in the witness, moved over near the press table, where he was asked a question, to which he made a reply.

David Mancowitz, presiding notary who earlier in the hearing had been called down by O'Connell for cutting him short while registering an objection, reproached O'Connell for whispering. Another spirited clash ensued, during which "mind your business" and "keep your mouth shut" were some of the greetings exchanged.

Recess came with Burlen still on the stand.

Congressman John F. Fitzgerald was not at the hearing today. He is in New York to welcome Sir Thomas Lipton, the noted wachtsman and challenger for the international cup. Before leaving, Congressman Fitzgerald cast doubts upon his appearance at the hearings, saying he thought it was unnecessary for him to testify.

"I don't know when I will testify or whether I will testify," he said, while on his way to the South Station to take a train. "I am not going away on account of the hearing," he declared.

"The other side has offered nothing that we think is worthy of contradiction and they have not connected me in any way with any charge of fraud claimed by my opponent, Peter F. Tague."

$3,491,570.63 IN CAMBRIDGE BUDGET

The Cambridge City Council agreed on the annual city budget early today after wrangling the greater part of the night. The budget, as passed, carries total figures of $3,491,570.63. The Council slashed Mayor Edward W. Quinn's figures by $31,085. But this was less by about $28,000 than the $59,000 slash recommended by the finance committee of the Council.

The proposed increase of $300 for each head of a city department was held up. It would mean an annual increase in the city payroll of $5,700.

The council neatly pocketed, for the present at least, the recent legislative act creating a licensing board for Cambridg, one of Mayor Quinn's pet plans. The board, as ordered by the Legislature, is to consist of a salaried chairman, to be named by the Mayor, and the chiefs of the fire and police department at no additional salary. The salary of the chairman is to be fixed by the council.

PEACE ENVOYS AGREE ABOUT LABOR

London, April 2.—American troops are forbidden to participate in any military operations in the Balkans or Eastern Europe by President Wilson, according to a Central News dispatch from Paris.

By ROBERT J. PREW,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, April 2.—The commission on international labor legislation has completed its labors. A constitution which furnishes the working agreement for a permanent international labor organization was reported today.

In this agreement it is explicitly stated that the League of Nations will not have authority to impose demands upon sovereign states.

This action may be accepted as an indication of what will be written into the peace treaty when the League of Nations and other problems are settled. American interests have been carefully protected throughout, it was declared by officials who have been taking part in the labor conference.

FIRST MEETING IN WASHINGTON.

The first meeting of the international labor organization will be held in Washington, D. C., next October, when the delegates will take up the eight-hour day, prohibition of night work by women and the permanent solution of unemployment as well as measures to safeguard women and children in industry.

The committee agreed upon clauses to be inserted in the peace treaty, but it is unlikely that they will be adopted.

The American delegates defeated the British proposals limiting sovereignty, assuming the position that a Federal government could not compel States to accept labor rulings framed elsewhere.

TRIUMPH FOR GOMPERS.

For weeks the commission was threatened with a break-up, but finally Samuel Gompers, the presiding officer, and his American associates secured a compromise, which provides that the labor conference may make decisions from recommendations or draft conventions which must be deposited with the secretary-general of the League of Nations for one year, in which time the nation involved will put the matter up to its citizens to get their will upon the matter.

Efforts to apply labor plans to agricultural workers failed.

Report "Big Four" Agree France Is to Have Saare Valley Mineral Products

By JOHN EDWIN NEVIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, April 2.—Substantial progress is now being made by the "Big Four" following the breaking of the deadlock. President Wilson and the European premiers meeting with him are greatly encouraged.

While the situation is still critical, all the conferees are impressed with the absolute necessity of completing the work without any further delay.

It is now understood that an agreement has been reached by which France will get the mineral products of the Saare basin while Germany will retain sovereignty of the territory. Furthermore, substantial progress has been made in the discussions of the Rhine qeustion.

TO DESTROY FORTS.

German fortifications on the Rhine will be demolished but Germany will be allowed to keep the land on which they stand.

The size of the indemnities claimed from Germany has been cut down also.

It is hoped to complete all the work in relation to the first peace treaty by Saturday and settle the Austrian problems next week. Then the allies will be ready to invite the representatives of the central powers to France to sign up.

It is believed there will be upwards of 200 enemy representatives here when the final negotiations are begun.

The allies and the associated powers authorized the restoration of the freedom of trade with Poland, Esthonia and German Austria.

In fact, freedom of trade has now been established with all nations except Russia, Germany and Hungary.

"BIG FOUR" ATTACKED.

Restrictions have been laid down regarding German Austria, prohibiting the shipment of military articles into the country.

An international trade commission has been sent to Vienna to see that there is no reshipment of goods into Germany.

The foreign council has decided that it will not be necessary for the report of the commission on international labor legislation to be ratified by a plenary session of the peace conference. The labor measures will be ratified by the various nations involved.

The Journal attacks the "Big Four" upon its attitude on the Saare Valley problem, saying: "Is the conference preparing for peace or war?" It pointed out at the same time that the Czecho-Slovak Commission annexed 3,000,000 Germans, and that the Czecho-Slovaks are fighting 100,000 Ukrainians and Ruthenians. It is a shock, says the newspaper, to find that the "Big Four" has scruples about the Germans in connection with the Saare basin.

COURT REFUSES TO MOVE BROOKS STATUE

remained in the hands of the committee an unexpended balance of $65,000, and by a decree of the Supreme Court that money was transferred to the wardens and vestry of Trinity Church to maintain and care for the statue, and the surplus money that remained was to be used for charitable purposes.

Many friends and admirers of Bishop Brooks were much dissatisfied with the St. Gaudens statue, and in 1915 Bela Pratt made a model in clay of heroic size of the bishop, which was generally approved. Permission was obtained from the Supreme Court to take $35,000 from the original fund and use it for a bronze statue of Bishop Brooks to be cast under the direction of Mr. Pratt, and placed in the triangle of Copley Square directly in front of Trinity Church.

Chief Justice Rugg, who wrote the opinion of the full court, says: "The erection of a noble work of art as a monument or memorial to a great spiritual leader is a public charity. It is a means of education and a source of inspiration.

CANNOT MODIFY TERMS.

After discussing the history as to the creation of the trust, the Chief Justice further says: "Under these circumstances and upon the allegations of the bill, there is no authority to warrant the removal of the St. Gaudens statue upon a nearby site.

"The donors of the contributions were the founders of the charity. They manifested their charitable scheme in unambiguous phrase. They selected their trustees by whom that scheme has been given effect. The court is not at liberty to alter the scheme thus consummated.

"When charitable gifts can be administered, according to the directions of the donors, the court is not at liberty to modify it upon considerations of policy or convenience."

prevented her fiance from visiting her in Liverpool after the United States became involved.

Miss Hannah L. Parker of Keigley, Eng., another of the passengers, is on her way to Grand Rapids, Mich., to marry E. R. Brown, a navy electrician whom she met while engaged in war work.

An object of interest to his fellow-passengers on the trip across, Corporal E. Campneel Campbell of the 14th Australian Engineers, was the first man over the side today and raced to catch the Twentieth Century for the West. He is to take ship at San Francisco for Australia on April 8, and has about an hour's leeway in his race across the country.

Campbell got a special discharge and is trying to reach Australia in time to adjust important business affairs which demand his presence.

Three American lieutenants of the British Royal Flying Corps returned to America aboard the Bohemian. They are Lieutenants W. C. Benson of Seattle, H. C. Brown of Philadelphia and H. A. Lambert of New York. Among Benson's exciting reminiscences is one of having the tail of his machine shot away while he was 10,000 feet in the air and making a safe landing behind his own lines while a target for machine gun bullets.

Lawrence, April 2.—Hundreds of young women, including school teachers and store girls, will solicit funds for the Welcome Home Fund to receive the boys of the 26th Division when they arrive.

Tag Day will be observed here Saturday on which day the girls expect to raise at least $10,000.

Already 500 girls are enlisted to raise funds to defray the expense of giving a royal reception to soldiers and sailors.

REVEALS GIRL'S DEVOTION TO SOLDIER

Providence, April 2.—"I pray for him every night. While he was away I saved every dollar and bought furniture for the new home we were to have together." Helen Smith, pretty department store clerk of this city, so pictures her devotion to Sergeant John J. Dadren, a shell-shocked member of one of the Rhode Island batteries.

And while she is praying and working for the future that appeared so brilliant to her, just a few months ago, Sergeant Dadren is being tenderly cared for by the Red Cross and receiving the treatment recommended by the best neurologists for the shell shocked, nerve torn men who have returned from the battlefields of Europe.

"John wrote me letters while he was in France and talked of the home we were to have together when he returned," said Miss Smith. "I was engaged to marry him before the war and I have saved every dollar and bought furniture for our new home. It is now all in my mother's house at No. 7 Pallas street."

Sergeant Dadren arrived in this city three weeks ago, according to the story told by the police. He was unable to locate his fiancee at first, owing to a change of address of which he had not been notified. Letters found in his pockets served to identify him and the Pawtucket police took him in charge, until Miss Smith could be communicated with.

In the meantime, Red Cross officials took charge of the soldier, and called in Dr. Frederic J. Farnell, an expert on mental diseases, who recommended that Sergeant Dadren be taken to a retreat for special care.

While Miss Smith is confident that her sweetheart will recover, she is greatly worried over the turn that affairs have taken. She herself wished to care for the man, in her mother's home, and was planning to do so, when the Red Cross took charge of him.

HISTORY of the YANKEE DIVISION

by HARRY A. BENWELL

YANKEE DIVISION BOYS SUFFERED HARDSHIPS TRAINING IN FRANCE

This is the fourth installment of the "History of the Yankee Division," which began in the Sunday Advertiser and American of March 30. Previous installments contained a tribute to the division by General Edwards, the idolized organizer and leader of the fighting New Englanders, and a general introduction telling of the feats they performed and the glory they won. The story of the organization was then told, showing how General Edwards turned National Guard organizations into an army division in about forty-eight hours. The story was also told of how the transports intended for the Rainbow Division were secured for the 26th, enabling the New England outfit to sail for France and to be the first full division of the United States army to arrive there.

CHAPTER III.
TRAINING IN FRANCE

Some of the troops landed at Liverpool and some at St. Nazaire, France, but all were quickly forwarded to a training area in the vicinity of Neufchateau, where the entire division, less the Artillery Brigade, with Ammunition Train and Trench Mortar Battery, was concentrated. These latter were sent to Coequidon for artillery training.

The troops were quartered in billets within a radius of fifteen miles from Neufchateau, in which place Divisional Headquarters was located. General Edwards, Colonel Shelton and Captain Hyatt went to the British front for observation, and General Traub took command of the division. Divisional Headquarters was opened at Neufchateau on October 31st.

The division was confronted by many problems, especially those of transportation and supply. Due to the lack of animals and transport in general it was extremely difficult to feed and equip the troops.

The weather was cold and it was sleeting most of the time. The roads were in bad shape, covered with mud, and it was necessary for the men to go to distributing points and bring back flour, bacon, coffee and other articles of subsistence on their backs. To get firewood it was necessary for them to go into the forests, fell a tree, cut it up and bring it to camp.

Colonel Beacham, who was then quartermaster, did everything he could to relieve the situation, and his personality and advice to make the best of the situation and "play the game," went a long way in keeping up the spirit of the division.

The 101st Engineers had been detached from the division shortly after its arrival and was engaged in putting up barracks for the Forty-second Division, which was then on the seas. A supply company had also been loaned to the First Division, Regulars, who had gone over with General Pershing, but were not fully organized. The Twenty-sixth was especially handicapped by a lack of rifle ranges, the men being forced to shoot at tin cans and bottles. Later they built their own ranges.

Edwards Describes Situation

The situation is best described in the picturesque language of General Edwards:

"They kept me away from the division for one month," he said, "and I had the great privilege of serving with the famous Fifty-first Highlanders up near the Cambrai front. Then I went to the Irish Division, then to the Ulster Division, and saw their 'shows,' as they called them. One was a two-brigade raid. It was the most marvellous thing, where they went over the top, and where they used large calibres, and barrage, and made their raid and came back at night. Then every night they would give them what they called 'a bit of chemical barrage,' and that amounted to the Englishmen throwing over a double dose of gas, to discount anything the Boche ever did.

"Then I went to Chemin des Dames. On the 10th of November I joined my division. All but one battalion of the 102nd Infantry, the Connecticut regiment, had arrived. They were in England. For ten days these 25,000 men had three trucks to feed themselves. After that the French loaned us eleven and we got twenty-two Packard trucks. The men used to march two, and sometimes three miles, for their fuel. They would cut in the snow the saplings, and each man would take one in his hands, and they had no gloves. Then they would march back and cut up those saplings so they could smoke and put out their eyes in the cow stables they occupied.

"The men went into billets; they went into garrets, but there was no fire. They went in pig styes and in cow stables. Their feet were wet. And then came the necessity of unloading big lots of trains, of digging sewers and building hospitals.

Had to Serve as Labor Troops

"At that time the labor troops had not arrived. It was necessary for the fighting troops to do the work. About 70 per cent. of the men had bronchitis or pneumonia. You could not get one of them to go to a doctor. I had about as bad a cough as the rest, and I would run around among them myself. I told the doctors to put them on sick report and that public opinion in the campaign would take care of the malingering.

"There were many articles of equipment which they could not get. Frequently there would be a deficiency in the rations. I never saw so much mud and rain in my life. Their feet were generally wet and we were experimenting with the shoes. We turned the leather wrong side out and fixed the pores so that they would act like syphons—and fill our shoes with water. I never saw men put up with so many discomforts in my life.

"They had French methods to absorb. The French were keen and earnest to teach them what they knew. They had four years of trench warfare, and they came to the conclusion that the special methods and special instruments and arms which they were using were essential to their winning out. And as I recall it, they worked on this sewer problem, they worked on the sewer warfare, because they had to live in the sewer.

"I am just sketching some of the difficulties, but the word I want to give you is that I never heard a complaint from these 25,000 men. The one thing they demanded was 'General, let us get at those Boches!' "

Frenchmen to the Rescue

During General Edwards' absence, Captain Malick of the French army, a thorough gentleman and experienced officer of most pleasing personality and professional accomplishments, had been assigned to the division as senior officer of the French Mission attached to the Twenty-sixth. He saw the situation that existed, and telegraphed to his chief that the Twenty-sixth Division needed trucks; had to have trucks. As a result a French company with thirty trucks came to their assistance, and stayed with the division until it went into an active sector. The trucks saved the situation.

About this time Captain Pendleton, who had succeeded in securing transports from under the noses of other units at Hoboken, was sent on a scouting expedition to locate lost freight and baggage. He went to Folkestone, London, Liverpool, Southampton, Havre, Brest and St. Nazaire and was able to find a great deal, but much of it was lost and never showed up, thus adding to the hardships of the division.

Upon his return Captain Pendleton conferred with Colonel Beacham, the divisional quartermaster, about the transportation problem. The French trucks were not sufficient in capacity or number to take care of the division's needs.

Colonel Beacham then suggested that the captain go to Paris and to the Reception Park at St. Nazaire to see what he could beg, buy or steal. This was done, and on his arrival in Paris Captain Pendleton met General Edwards, who had just returned from the British front. When informed of his aide's mission, the general said:

"Go to it and don't come back without trucks."

Pendleton Again Makes Good

At the Motor Reception Park at St. Nazaire were found any amount of three-ton trucks, Ford ambulances, motor cars and motor cycles. Captain Pendleton wired to that effect and suggested that it be taken up with General Headquarters and an immediate assignment be secured, in the meantime he arranged with the American military authorities at St. Nazaire for truck equipment of two truck companies of twenty-eight trucks each. The personnel of the 101st Supply Train, under command of Lieutenant Henderson, arrived and manned the fifty-six trucks. Captain Pendleton then took all the trucks to the big Quartermaster Depot at St. Nazaire and loaded them with flour, coffee, sugar, canned goods, rubber boots, ponchos, horseshoes, shovels, with some lumber and sent them on their way over the roads to Neufchateau.

The arrival of these trucks with their supplies happily remedied the situation. Things were going along in good style, despite the handicaps. The 101st Engineers had not returned to the division, but were engaged in building cantonments and hospitals.

Battalions of infantry were digging sewers and drains when they should have been training. The weather was bitterly cold, and the men needed gloves, knitted helmets, heavy underwear and new shoes which were not possible of procurement from a government source.

About this time orders were received to send the new trucks with their personnel to the First and Forty-second Divisions. General Edwards immediately telephoned to General Pershing and explained the situation with the result that permission was given to retain the trucks.

Begin Supplying "Bread Line"

A few days later the quartermaster of the Forty-second Division came down and told his story. They were even worse off than the Twenty-sixth, and so the "Yankee Division" turned over twenty-eight trucks to them. The personnel came back, but soon after orders were received to transfer the entire personnel of one truck company to the First Division. They never returned.

Then wagons began to come in and so did animals. The bakery company was turning out excellent bread in sufficient quantity to supply the division and advanced section line of communication. This company was taken away from the division and with other companies put to baking bread for the lines of communication, which became the source of the division's bread supply.

Colonel Beacham was shortly relieved as divisional quartermaster. Captain Pendleton was recalled from the General Staff college by General Edwards, promoted to major, and detailed as divisional quartermaster.

The new quartermaster sent out scouts, the greatest of whom was Captain "Al" Ford, a former Boston newspaperman, to go to Paris, Nancy, Tours, and other places to buy gloves, knitted helmets, underwear, shoes, etc. General Rogers, at Chaumont, approved of what was being done and gave blanket authority to purchase what the division needed. Captain Scorer, the disbursing officer, had about $6,000,000 to his official credit so that it was possible to spend as much money as was necessary. There was always plenty of food during that period, but there was a serious shortage of hay and oats. Captain Henry H. Wheelock, assistant quartermaster, was instrumental in purchasing all the hay and oats for miles around. In that way the divisional animals got full rations. It is a fact that at this time two of the other divisions lost great numbers of animals from starvation. The Twenty-sixth lost none.

Fuel Problem Became Serious

Then it grew so cold that the fuel problem became serious. No wood could be secured from the lines of communication, and the lack of fires was working an additional hardship on the men. Also at this time the French peasants had become extremely despondent, and openly told the soldiers that their entrance into the war would merely prolong it four or five years. They declared they were ready to make peace even at the German's terms. This attitude was not evidenced by the more intelligent French people, however, and it had absolutely no effect on the New Englanders. Lieutenant, later Major Theodore Baker, and Lieutenant Dickson were sent out and bought up all the wood they could find. They made contracts for immediate and future deliveries which took care of the entire division.

During this time the training of the men went on as steadily as possible considering the number of working details necessary each day. The men were billeted in various small villages within a radius of fifteen miles from Neufchateau, where on the Rue St. Anne divisional headquarters was located. Each morning they marched about six kilometres to their training fields, where they were put through an intensive course under the guidance of the French. The latter, after their three years of experience, were wedded to trench warfare, and attempted to concentrate on it.

General Edwards, however, differed with them on this subject, and insisted that the men be given thorough training on the range and with the bayonet. He declared that the rifle had always been the reliance of the American soldier, and that grenades and bombs were to be used only when the enemy failed to leave his dugouts. Subsequent operations of the division in battle proved the wisdom of his attitude. The French were also continually dinning into the ears of the Yankees the danger of overconfidence.

They attempted to instill a spirit of cautiousness, but it is not on record that the New Englanders were ever afflicted with it. Time and time again in the various battles in which they took part, they went forward through barrages that were considered impassable.

250 Victory Gardens Now Await Early Applicants

Two hundred and fifty Victory gardens are awaiting the first applicants to the park and recreation commissioner of the city. For under his direction more than 25 acres of city land to be prepared for planting have been laid out for cultivation as was done last year and the same amount of land has been turned over to the school department for school children's gardens.

Fifteen acres have been set aside on River street in Mattapan, approximately five acres at the Forest Hills Cemetery and about five acres in Franklin Park. The city will furnish instructors in gardening for the first 250 who apply for the plots but will not furnish seeds or help in cultivation and harvesting as was done last year, when more than 130 acres were turned over into war gardens.

The Franklin Field golf links and tennis courts, which were used for gardens, are being restored.

PENNILESS LADS FROM FRONT ON BREAD LINE

Fear Same Condition Here as in New York Unless Men Get Six Months' Bonus

Recently discharged soldiers and sailors who were willing to give their all for their country, and now form part of a bread line of 800 men in New York, according to dispatches from that city, constitute a powerful argument in favor of six months' pay for soldiers, sailors and marines, in the opinion of social workers there.

According to Urbain J. Ledoux, former American consul at Prague, Bohemia, who is feeding the men, many of them have not eaten for forty-eight hours when they arrive at the "club" on East Ninth street to become part of the longest bread line in the largest city in the world.

DEPEND ON CHARITY.

The men declare that the closing of the United States employment offices in that city and the profiteering of private employment agencies have prevented them from getting work. They are out of funds and many are ragged when they arrive.

A collection of pennies had to be taken up from among these men when the bread ran short, but there were so few pennies in the cup when it went the rounds that the social workers had to add $4 more.

These men, according to their stories, walk the streets all day searching for work and then, at the end of the day, are compelled to depend on charity for their subsistence. Many of them sleep on benches, or under them, on the floor, the counters or even the coal bin, it is related.

UNABLE TO FIND WORK.

These conditions may be duplicated in Boston after the arrival of the 26th Division, social workers fear, unless the government makes some provisions against it by voting the men six months' pay or some substantial sum.

The $60 bonus given to the men on their discharge is spent in providing them with a civilian equipment and goes no farther, the soldiers themselves declare.

Scores of the men declared they had been looking for a job, more said they had been loafing for two weeks, and a large percentage declared they had been searching for work a month without success.

BRITAIN MUST RAISE $7,500,000,000 THIS YEAR

By Universal Service.

London, April 2.—Britain's moneyed chancellor, Sir Austen Chamberlain, will go before Parliament this month and demand the colossal sum of about $7,500,000,000 to meet the government's gigantic debts this year.

The chancellor has already indicated that the government intends to meet a considerable part of the expense by borrowing. It is probable that more than $2,500,000,000 will be met by loan mostly from America. The sum of $5,000,000,000 is an outside figure for the revenues from taxation in the coming financial year.

BIDDEFORD OPERATIVES INSIST ON 48-HOUR PLAN

Biddeford, Me., April 2.—The local textile union voted unanimously not to return to work until the demand for a 48-hour week was granted. Agent E. L. Merrill of the Pepperell Company told the operatives that the mills could not grant the 48-hour week now, but that if they would return to work the request would be taken under consideration and granted when conditions were right.

QUINCY TO USE METAL TICKETS ON TROLLEYS

Quincy will pay its trolley fare with metal tokens instead of paper tickets, beginning tomorrow. The Bay State Street Railway system is extending the metal token system, which has been such a success in Fall River and Taunton, and it is understood the paper tickets are gradually to disappear from all the lines of the company.

TWO KILLED IN POWDER MILL BLAST AT WAYNE, N. J.

Patterson, N. J., April 2.—Two men are reported to have been killed in an explosion that wrecked the Wheel and Press mills at the du Pont Powder works at Wayne, near here, early today. The plant consists of twenty mills. It is not yet known whether any of the other mills were damaged. The explosion was felt in all the surrounding territory.

500 NORTH SHORE PAINTERS ON STRIKE

Nearly 500 painters struck for a forty-hour week at seventy cents an hour in the cities and towns between Salem and Rockport on the North Shore today. The men, who are members of the North Shore District Council of Painters, had been working forty-four hours a week at sixty-five cents an hour.

LIBRARY TO SHOW "Y. D." OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHS

TEN BROTHERS ATTEND ONLY SISTER'S WEDDING

Fitchburg, April 2.—Ten brothers attended the wedding of their only sister, Miss Agnes W. Yale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Yale, No. 5 Jay street, when she became the bride of Lewis W. Champney of this city. Mr. Champney is a student at the Gordon Theological Seminary at Boston and is associate pastor of the Mill Memorial Church in Allston. The couple will live in Boston.

MISSING SEAMAN'S FAMILY FACING POVERTY

Mrs. William Winberg and her children, Helen, Mildred and John, in back row and Lina and Esther in front.

Missing from home for nearly six months with never a word from him in that time, Mrs. William Winberg of No. 47 Woodlawn street, Everett, has given up hope of ever again seeing the husband of her five children, who was chief steward on the steamer Tuckahoe.

Grown thin from looking out the window, watching for her husband's return, Mrs. Winberg is face to face with poverty, from which the assistance of warm-hearted neighbors is temporarily keeping her. But she is threatened with eviction from her little cottage, due to inability to continue payments on it, and is at a loss to know where she will take her little family, without funds to care for them.

In her desperation, Mrs. Winberg has appealed to the Boston American for assistance in finding her husband, if he is alive, and in establishing the fact of his death, if he is dead.

SHIPPED FROM BOSTON.

On October 6, 1918, Mrs. Winberg told the American, her husband shipped from Boston on the Tuckahoe, which had been plying between Boston and Norfolk, but which was destined to touch at New York and then cross to France on this trip.

On October 6 Winberg kissed his wife and children good-bye. He was not feeling well at the time, Mrs. Winberg said, but he shipped, nevertheless. After that date, Mrs. Winberg never saw him, and never heard from him directly.

"Two sailors from the Tuckahoe told me that William had been taken ill of influenza," she said, "and that he had left the Tuckahoe when she arrived at New York, drawing what pay was due him, but leaving his clothing and other belongings. He was too sick to take them. These sailors said that they went with him to the Grand Central station, bought his ticket and saw him go through the gate at 3 o'clock to board a Boston train. They have not seen him since.

BELIEVES HUSBAND DEAD.

"I understand that a sailor named Nilsson was to have sent his belongings home, but he has not done so, and I cannot locate him.

"I do not believe William is alive. I believe that he died of the disease, with never a chance to get word to me, and that he has been buried.

"My husband was a good man, and I know that he has not deserted his wife and his little ones. He never drank. He was a member of the Cooks' and Stewards' Marine Union and of the Loyal Order of Moose in South Boston. There is a little insurance money, $250, that I could get if I could prove him dead, but I cannot prove that to be so."

Mrs. Winberg has paid down $500 on her little cottage in Everett, but she cannot pay more. All the little board her husband left with her has been spent and she is well-nigh destitute.

FAILS TO BRING NEWS.

She said that the Tuckahoe was then in charter of the National Shipping Corporation at No. 25 Broad street, New York city, but that frequent letters to the corporation had failed to bring her news of her husband.

The children are Esther, five; William, eight; Mildred, seven; Helen, five, and Lina, three. The first named attend the Mt. Washington school in Everett.

William Winberg is described as of medium height, weighing about 140 pounds, light complexion and sandy mustache. He was thirty-eight years old and was born in Sweden.

WOMEN'S WORK LAUDED BY MRS. THAYER

Gives $100 Check, Urging Clubs to Give Aid for Worthy Work

Mrs. Nathaniel Thayer, chairman of the women's committee, Council of National Defence in Massachusetts, has given the campaign of the Federal Employment Service for funds her personal indorsement as well as a check of $100 for the work.

The Employment Service at No. 128 Federal street is campaigning for a fund of $2,400 with which to maintain the office and carry on the work until July 1. The necessity for this step was brought about by the failure of Congress to pass the General Deficiencies bill, and the money with which to maintain the employment service automatically stopped.

BUREAU OF GREAT VALUE.

Mrs. Thayer, as a woman understanding women's problems, and appreciating the particular need of keeping this office until money can be forthcoming for the sake of the unemployed women of Boston, has given the cause her endorsement in the following letter:

"After several consultations with Mrs. Margaret Neale, assistant to the Director-General of the United States Employment Service in Washington, I believe that the work is of great value at the present moment and should have the cordial support and financial assistance of all women's organizations, which may be directly or indirectly affected by it.

"This work was started and urged by the Department of Labor in Washington and the various women's committees of the Council of National Defence were especially asked to give it every assistance in their power.

JOBS WITHOUT EXPENSE.

"The work is already well under way with its main office for women at No. 128 Federal street, Boston, under Miss Mabel R. Cooke, where all women seeking employment can be offered many opportunities without expense of any kind. The office has already proved its usefulness to great numbers.

"Owing to the failure of Congress to make any appropriation for the continuation of this work it is of great importance that it should receive financial assistance for the next three months, in order that the work may not be given up. After July 1 it is confidently hoped that the government will again give it financial support as it has done up to the present time."

ASK EMPLOYERS' AID.

In a general way there are three things necessary for the success of a public employment office—the applicant, the employer and the money to carry on expenses for running the office. There are a goodly number of women applying daily for work—approximately 200 a day—but there should be more. The service wants to help all the working women of Boston when they are seeking employment. That is the function of a public employment service and in this way the general public can cooperate for its success.

The employers' co-operation and moral support is essential in order that women applicants may be placed. By calling upon the service to help them when in need of additional workers they will be doing a great public service—that of enabling women to obtain work without any expense to themselves in this time when women can so little afford to lay out any of their pay.

The Women's Division extends to employers of Boston a most cordial invitation to call at their office, either by telephone or personally, where they will receive courteous and capable assistance. That is the employers' best way of co-operating.

ONE OVERCOME, MANY DRIVEN OUT BY FIRE

One was overcome by smoke, dozens driven to the street in their night clothes and a property loss of $500 incurred in a fire at No. 21 Cold street. The building is a three-story tenement house. Frank Zoalski, forty-five, was found on the floor in his kitchen on the top floor, overpowered by the smoke, when Patrolman Patrick Morne of Division 6 entered the building, to alarm the tenants. The house is owned by Mrs. Pauline Divinsky.

PURSE FOR DR. FROST AT FAREWELL RECEPTION

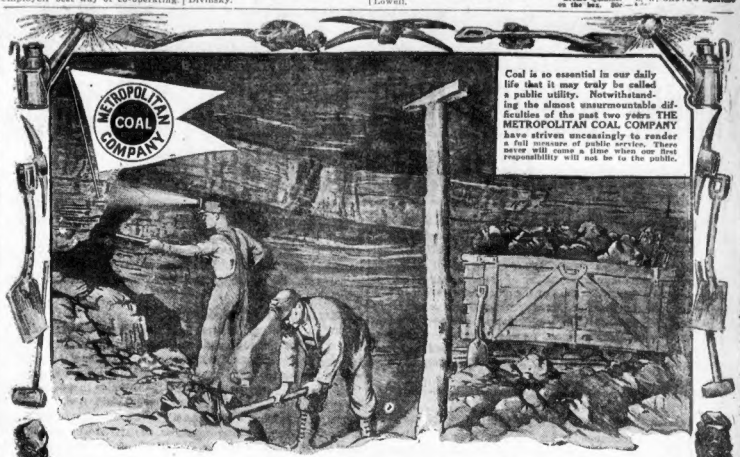

Parishioners of Rev. Dr. Theodore L. Frost, who is leaving the Mattapan Baptist Church for the First Baptist Church in East Providence, R. I., presented him a purse at a farewell reception. Dr. Frost, who held the Mattapan pulpit for five years, is a graduate of Harvard College. He was ordained in 1905 at Rumford Falls, Me., received his doctor's degree from Temple University in 1911 and has held pastorates in Skowhegan, Me., Manchester, N. H., and Lowell.

Coal is so essential in our daily life that it may truly be called a public utility. Notwithstanding the almost unsurmountable difficulties of the past two years THE METROPOLITAN COAL COMPANY have striven unceasingly to render a full measure of public service. There never will come a time when our first responsibility will not be to the public.

Getting Ready to "Shoot" the Coal

Here Are the Men

Two of a Hundred and Forty-Five Thousand

ANTHRACITE coal mining, one of the world's most hazardous occupations, engages 145,000 men in America. These men, taking their lives in their hands, are fearless to a fault.

Daily they enter the mines to procure that great necessity of life—COAL—braving the dangers of the death-dealing Black Damp, cave-in, and other perils, which, despite remarkable inventions, still steal unawares upon the miner.

These brave men work on and on, never knowing when they will be blown into eternity, notwithstanding the utmost caution and the most perfect mining laws for safety the world has ever known. (Those of the State of Pennsylvania.)

His hours of daily toil would mean a lifetime to the individual unaccustomed to mine life. Yet in 1918 he produced over 88,000,000 tons of anthracite coal, an indispensable essential, which you owe to these sturdy workers. And our company, selling more than a million and a half tons of anthracite and bituminous coal a year, esteems it a privilege to pay a tribute to the men who make it possible.

When the Metropolitan truck rolls up to your home to deliver your next Fall and Winter's coal, give just one thought to the hands that directed the drill and placed the explosive, the hands of the men that endured hardships that you might be comfortable.

HEAVY DEMAND FOR FISH BY EXPRESS

Proof that the Boston American's plan to sell freshly caught codfish and haddock by express at cost has met with instant success everywhere is shown by the flood of orders daily received at the office of Alden A. Mills, No. 101 Tremont street, the American's fish expert.

With the mail orders for twenty pounds of fish come letters requesting that the food be shipped as soon as possible in order that they may enjoy wholesome fish at a reasonable price. The first twenty-pound boxes will be shipped tomorrow in time for Friday's dinner. It sells for seven cents a pound, the buyer paying a small express charge.

Packing the fish has been under way for several days and everything is in readiness to send the prize fish packages to the eager buyers, many of them living in remote places in New England. The sea food is fresh and is packed as soon as it is caught in neat wooden boxes holding twenty pounds, placed in a freezer for a few hours to render packing and shipment easier, and then withdrawn for distribution to the American's customers.

READY FOR SHIPMENT.

Order Friday's dinner now. It isn't too late. Send a money order to Alden A. Mills of No. 101 Tremont street and the fish will be shipped to you tomorrow—twenty pounds of delicious cod and haddock.

While the American is nearly swamped with orders for fish by express, provisions have been made to take care of the largest possible trade. Knowing that the public would jump at the opportunity to cheat the profiteer and at the same time purchase wholesome and cost-price fish, the American has arranged facilities to fill every order.

STORE BUSINESS HEAVY.

In the meantime the Boston American's stores are being largely patronized and report record business daily. In Greater Boston fish is sold in them for five cents a pound, six cents being charged in the out-of-town markets.

Due to the extra cost of freezing, shipping and boxing, the charge for fish by express is 7 cents, the receiver paying the express charge, but this is a small consideration when the opportunity to get good fish at less than is charged in most places by unscrupulous profiteers is offered.

Eat more fish, particularly more of the Boston American's fish.

Get your Friday's dinner today.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Sparkling and vivacious—merry-bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anaemic-looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "run-downs," "brain fags" and pessimists, we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds, and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are habitually very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance, awaiting those who practice internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

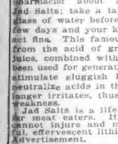

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clogged you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, severe headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. Your urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Advertisement.

HELIUM GAS WILL BOOST AIRSHIP PROGRESS

Non-Inflammable Substance Enlarges Dirigible's Chances in Sea Flight

By JOHN K. GOWEN, Jr., Reserve Military Aviator.

There is 1 per cent. of helium in the natural gas of Texas—and Texas this year is drilling more wells than ever before in the history of a State that owes a large part of its prosperity to oil wells.

That means there will be more helium than ever before—and helium gas is the solution of the dirigible airship problem.

There are important facts, little known to the general public, but they mean much to those scientists who are endeavoring to solve for all time the problem of transporting passengers safely through the air.

Helium gas means that dirigible ocean liners will soon traverse the heavens between the United States and Europe, over the route which the first transatlantic cable followed, as it is now to be the shortest and best, and over other routes which passenger and cargo-carrying demands may dictate.

HELIUM NON-INFLAMMABLE.

Helium gas is non-inflammable. Hydrogen gas, commonly used at present to inflate balloons and make rigid dirigibles lighter than air, is highly inflammable. In fact it as dangerous as dynamite, and has to be handled as carefully.

Next to hydrogen, however, helium is the lightest gas known, having a lifting power of 92 per cent. less than that of hydrogen gas, with none of hydrogen's inflammability.

Before the war helium was one of the rarest of gases. Scientific research showed 1 per cent. of it to be present in the natural gas of Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas.

Only laboratories had any helium at the outbreak of hostilities, and then very little of it. The cost of production was not less than $1,500 per cubic foot, and from that up to $6,000 per cubic foot. The cost alone was prohibitive, for it would take hundreds of thousands of cubic feet to inflate a large balloon, and would cost, under the old system of manufacture, far more than the gas in the balloon than for the balloon itself.

BIG U. S. PLANT TO MAKE GAS.

American chemists went to work to produce helium gas in large quantities at low cost. By the time the armistice was signed they had brought the cost down to approximately 10 cents per cubic foot. This month a $2,000,000 plant will be completed which will manufacture helium gas in enormous quantities for less than 10 cents per cubic foot.

Helium possesses terrific powers of resistance to liquefaction. To separate it from the other elements with which it is found powerful compressors were manufactured similar to those used for producing liquid air. The natural gas was frozen and the temperature gradually lowered until at some 300 degrees below Fahrenheit and helium was the only gas remaining.

It had been planned to construct a fleet of dirigibles, inflated with helium, for bombing operations over Germany, but war brought helium's military usefulness to an end. It would not have burst into flames from German bullets, fired into it by scout planes, and the helium-inflated ship is practically invincible over a heavier-than-air machine, when divided into compartments such as are used in the Zeppelin type of rigid ship.

ALLOWS MANY CHANGES.

Drastic changes in dirigible design are made possible by helium gas. Instead of motors and passengers being carried far beneath the gas bag in cars, due to the danger of fire from exhausts, from expansion caused by the sun rays, and from electric storms, they may now be carried close up under the bag, on top of it, if desired, or even inside of it, should that be found advisable.

A helium airship could remain in the air indefinitely and being perfectly safe could be constructed of such size and with such power that a hundred passengers might readily enough be transported through the sky from the United States to Great Britain in two days or less.

All eyes today, however, are directed away from the discoveries of science, however important their bearings on future aeronautics, to Newfoundland where Harry Hawker and Commander Grieve have at last arrived at St. John's and are assembling the ship in which they will leave on April 16 in their attempt to reach the coast of Ireland and win the London Daily Mail $50,000 prize.

CANADIAN ACES IN RACE.

Colonel Ray Collishaw, Canadian aviator of the Royal Air Force, has left Halifax, N. S., for England. He will bring back a Handley-Page airplane early in May, he announces. will start from Newfoundland in an attempt to cross the ocean via the air route. Major Leckie, Major McKeever and Captain Sinclair, it is said, will accompany him on the initial venture. It is stated that the ship now being prepared for him will be able to remain in the air for thirty-nine hours, carrying fifty passengers.

Not even a tentative date has been announced for the United States Naval Curtiss attempt, and it is believed in well informed circles that the start will not be made until danger from ice and fog is past.

FAY LEWISOHN'S ENGAGEMENT BROKEN

New York Society Girl and William Burton in Disagreement

New York, April 2.—"Is this the office of the New York American?" came a woman's voice over the telephone wire last night.

"Yes, this is the American."

"This is Mrs. Philip Lewisohn, and I wish to give you an announcement for tomorrow's paper. Please say:

"Mrs. Philip Lewisohn of No. 923 Fifth avenue announces that her daughter, Fay, has broken her engagement to William Burton, which was announced in February. Mr. Burton is the son of Mrs. Frederick Hausman of No. 745 Park avenue. Miss Lewisohn is a granddaughter of Randolph Guggenheimer."

Thus it was learned last night that one of the romances of high society, the wedding climax of which the smart set had anticipated with unusual interest, had been shattered.

DAUGHTER OF MILLIONAIRE.

Miss Fay Lewisohn, the central figure, is a daughter of the late millionaire importer who amassed his fortune in trade with Africa and then swelled it greatly by realty development in Manhattan, which was more or less of a hobby with him. She is a granddaughter of the first Borough President of Manhattan after the birth of Greater New York.

Immediately after Mrs. Lewisohn had finished the dictation of her telephonic announcement, the reporter who received it, telephoned to the home of Mr. Burton, Park avenue. He was not in, but his stepfather, Frederick Hausman, answered the call. When told that Mrs. Lewisohn was announcing the engagement as broken by her daughter, Mr. Hausman interrupted, saying:

"She did not break the engagement. My stepson brbke it. Please say for me that the engagement of Miss Lewisohn and Mr. Burton was broken by Mr. Burton. I know that much about the matter, although I am not in a position to say any more."

"And the reason for the breaking of the betrothal?" Mr. Hausman was asked.

"AGREED TO DISAGREE."

"I cannot say any more," he returned. "They simply agreed to disagree, but he was the one to call it off."

But when the Lewisohn home was told of the complicating form matters were taking, a great willingness was expressed to clear matters up. A rippling laugh came over the wire when Mr. Hausman's version of the affair was given. And this was said:

"Now very strange. Of course she broke it. It happened right here in this very house yesterday, and we're all witnesses to prove it. But what possible difference does it make who broke the engagement so long as it's broken?"

"Mr. Hausman, of course, doesn't really know about it. Young Burton is a very fine and likeable chap, and, from what Mr. Hausman is very fond of the boy. He, no doubt, feels that he would like to protect him. Mr. Hausman professed always to be very fond of Fay, and might want the chance to effect a reconciliation.

GIRL IS 20 AND HE IS 22.

"You see they were only children. Our girl is just twenty and Mr. Burton is twenty-two. The engagement was announced at Fay's party on her Birthday. Since then Fay has decided that they didn't really love each other, and we are sure she is right and think she was very wise to take the step she did."

Miss Lewisohn is a niece of Harry R. Guggenheimer, who was married Monday in New Jersey to Miss Gwendolyn S. Wormser only a few days after his former wife, Janet Beebee, had received her final decree of divorce and alimony of $2,500 a year.

'MONK' EASTMAN TO RUSH WORK ON HIGHWAYS OF NATION

One-Time Leader of New York Bandits Seeks Restoration of Citizenship

Camp Upton, N. Y., April 2.—From gunman, gang leader and jailbird to war hero and trusted friend of his commanding officers is the transformation which war has wrought in the life of "Monk" Eastman, once chieftan of the most lawless band of Apaches that ever terrified New York lower East Side.

The man whose crimes caused him the loss of his American citizenship is today petitioning for a restoration of that citizenship, and he is being supported in his appeal by military men and police officials who in the old days would have arrested or shot him on sight.

And the "comeback," whose record in the 165th Infantry has blotted out his former transgressions, has dropped also the nickname which was once a synonym for all that was sinister in New York's underworld.

RESCUED WOUNDED.

"Monk" Eastman, outlaw, is today Private William Delaney, soon to be honorably discharged from the 27th Division.

Magazinists and preachers have spoken and written of the "crucible of war, which burns away the base and leaves the true metal," but "Monk" Eastman has lived through it.

The fighting and the recklessness which once made him the ogre of the East Side, and his name one to frighten children with, has in the last two years been employed to mount the firing step, to "cruss the top," to man the stretchers, rescue the wounded and comfort the dying.

The New York boys who in the old days would have avoided a corner which he frequented as they would the plague, learned to look for him when in Flanders.

WANTS TO "GO STRAIGHT."

He was in the first wave of New Yorkers to dash themselves against the "invincible" Hindenburg line and smash it. His commanding officer, Colonel Franklin W. Ward, testifies in his petition for the restoration of citizenship that Eastman was always the first to volunteer for dangerous enterprises, and always the last to answer "sick call."

When a wound in the head made the veteran gang fighter a hospital case, he refused to stay wounded, and escaped from his British nurses to seek the trenches and his comrades.

Last but not least, war has taught "Monk" Eastman, now Private Delaney, that his physical courage and capacity for leadership can be better employed than in organized gangwarfare.

He wants to "go straight," and to continue in peace the reformation begun on the battlefield.

Considering the honorable record of the soldier, the fact that he enlisted in 1917, just as he had completed one of his periodic sentences in jail, and the character of the men who have indorsed his petition, it is expected that Governor Smith will restore the ex-gangster to citizenship.

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their pink color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box. Druggists. Take one or two nights and note the pleasing results.

UNIFORM ROAD SIGNS PLANNED FOR NATION

U. S. Bureau of Public Roads to Co-operate With State Commissions

By International News Service.

Washington, April 2.—Many important steps have been taken to expedite road constructions under the enlarged program recently authorized by Congress, and the indications are that a large volume of highway construction will be accomplished this season, according to a statement issued by David Houston, Secretary of Agriculture, today.

The requisite official machinery, says the Secretary, for executing this program—that is, the Department of Agriculture through the Bureau of Public Roads on the one hand, and the forty-eight State highway departments on the other—is already in existence.

A conference was held by the Secretary with the State Highway Commissioners of the Eastern and mid-Western States, and all phases of the problem, and especially the interpretation of the liberal amendments of the Federal aid road act, were considered.

The regulations issued under the act have been revised in the light of past experience and of the suggestions received by the State Highway Department, the standards for plans, specifications and estimates have been modified to meet special conditions existing in some of the States and other changes in practices and procedure have been and are being made—all with the definite object of speeding up the work.

GERMAN OFFICER WOULD GREET WHITTLESEY

Now Wants to Shake Hands With Bay State Army Major, G. T. H.

New York, April 2. — Lieutenant Heinrich Prinz of the German 76th Division, who was told to "go to h—l" by Major Charles W. Whittlesey of Pittsfield, Mass., commander of the Lost Battalion in the Argonne forest, is not satisfied with that message. He desires to come to the United States to meet and congratulate the man who sent it.

Word to this effect has been received here by officers of the 77th Division of the United States army. It came from Colonel C. O. Sherrill, former division chief of staff who later was assigned to the Army of Occupation in Coblenz. He witnessed the farewell review of the German division before it crossed the Rhine and met Lieutenant Prinz.

The German officers had sent a message to Major Whittlesey, when the latter was surrounded in the Argonne Forest, asking the American commander to surrender on the grounds of humanity.

"The Germans felt it absolutely suicidal for American detachments to persist in defence and for that reason I sent the message requesting surrender," Lieutenant Prinz explained.

PURPOSE OF FISH PIER CO. TOLD IN COURT

Witness S[illegible] It Was Organiz[illegible] to Balk Mo[illegible]nopoly

Arthur [illegible]arker outlined the real purpose f[illegible] which the Boston Fish Pier Co[illegible] was organized in his testimon[illegible] the trial of the thirty defendants in the fish case, in the Supreme Court before Judge Sanderson today.

It was "to organize a corporation large enough to conduct a complete wholesale fish business with a personnel and resources required to enable it to open new areas for the sale of Atlantic Ocean fish, which have heretofore remained unexploited, to secure the landing and marketing to the port of Boston of as large a proportion as possible of the supply of any new type of food fish which has or may come on the market; to go into the producing end to the extent necessary to successfully meet any attempt by others to monopolize or partially monopolize the production of fish, during any portion of the year."

POLICE OFFICER TESTIFIES.

Richard J. Griffin of Haverhill, member of the Massachusets district police force, testified that he went to the Fish Pier on June 23, 1918, at the request of the Attorney General of Massachusetts and took the names of concerns who are wholesale buyers doing business on the pier.

While there he said he encountered John Burns, Jr., one of the defendants, who said: "I see you are taking notes. Will they be used against us in criminal prosecution?"

When told that they would be, the witness said Burns got in touch with his lawyer, who in turn communicated with the Attorney General's office. When Burns' lawyer finally reported Burns said, according to the witness: "If you want to interview buyers it is all right."

BUYERS INTERVIEWED.

The list of buyers interviewed included Charles Foley of the J. R. Neal Company, H. E. Sawyer of the D. F. Phillips Company, John Newbudy of the J. R. Neal ompany, Winfield S. Hendricks of the H. A. Rich ompany, William Stoddard of the H. A. Rich Company, Alvin Baker of the A. G. Baker Company, Herbert A. Rich of the H. A. Rich Company, Edward J. osgrove of the Watson, Cook Company, Robert J. Waters and F. M. Cook of the same company, Walter R. Smith of the L. B. Goodspeed Company, Harvey C. Davis of the John Burns ompany, William T. Curran of the Storey , Simmons Company, Sumner Atwood, Jr., of the same company, and Robert ampbell of the J. R. Burns Company.

They told the officer that they bought fish of the Bay State Fish Company or of the subsidiary companies and they said "You understand we are all under salary of the Bay State Company."

Morris P. Shaw, for thirty-five years in the fish business, secretary and treasurer of the New England Fish Exchange, connected with the E. A. Rich Company, is superintendent of the Boston Fish Pier Company.

PROMISES TO WED JAILED SUITOR ON HIS RELEASE

Ella Whalen of Everett, who today pledged herself to marry her sweetheart, Charles S. Cresser, Jr., when he completes his eighteen months' jail term for defrauding Boston hotels.

Promising to be true to her jailed sweetheart, and to marry him on his release in eighteen months, pretty Ella Whalen of Everett had her last opportunity to see Charles S. Cresser, Jr., today before he left for Deer Island.

Cresser, who is the son of the wealthy stockbroker, pleaded guilty in the Superior Court to defrauding the Brunswick, Essex and Young's Hotels of money and to larceny of $20 from the Touraine. He was sentenced by Judge Sisk.

Miss Whalen's home is No. 98 Third street, Everett. She appeared in the detention room soon after Cresser was sentenced, and the two made mutual pledges to marry as soon at Cresser should be free. They kissed through the grilled partition, and Gresser gave her his watch chain for a keepsake.

According to the police the two met at a dance hall about a year ago. Cresser gave her an engagement ring soon after. This she later returned on account of his attentions to another young woman, but after a time the engagement was renewed.

Cresser told the police that his downfall was due to the use of cocaine at Back Bay parties. The police say that his father expressed doubt of the socaine story, and declared that Cresser preferred idleness to working.

WOULD INCREASE COMPENSATION IN MAINE

Labor Bill Calls for 60 Per Cent. of Wage to Injured Workmen

Augusta, Me., April 2.—Seventy-four per cent. of the laboring men of Maine are affected by a bill introduced into the Senate today by Senator Geering of York to incorporate amendments to the Workman's Compensation Law. The bill has been drafted by a sub-committee of the Joint Committee on Labor and Judiciary, of which Senator Geering is chairman. The measure is said to be acceptable to all interests involved.

Eleven bills on this subject have been presented at the present legislative session, all of them in the House. The Geering bill provides that an injured person shall receive 60 per cent. of his average weekly wage, instead of 50 per cent. as at present. A minimum of $6 instead of $4 weekly is fixed and a maximum of $15 instead of $10.

The employer is required to engage the services of a physician, as at present. One hundred dollars may be expended in the fi[illegible]t thirty days, but medical or surgical bills above that amount or extending beyond that time limit shall be adjusted by the Industrial Accident Commission.

The Geering bill proposes to increase the membership of the commission from three to four, the new member to be an associate legal advisor, at a salary of $2,000 yearly.

The salary of the chairman of this commission is increased from $2,500 to $3,500 yearly, and the salary of the labor commissioner, who is also a member of this board, goes up $500 yearly. The pay of the insurance commissioner, a member of the board as well, remains unchanged.

Senator Geering told the Senate that during the past year the employers of the State of Maine had paid out in premiums to the insurance companies $1,096,244, while the insurance companies had paid out $312,507 in losses.

VATICAN APPEAL TO LENINE IS SPURNED

Pope Protests Tortures Following Report by Russian Orthodox Church

By International News Service.

Rome, April 2.—A sarcastic reply has been received at the Vatican to a note addressed to Nicholai Lenine protesting against the brutalities inflicted upon Russian churchmen, it was revealed by the Osservatore Romano today.

It was not known until this publication was made that the Pope had made an appeal in behalf of the Russian clergy.

The Bolshevik foreign minister, Tchitcherin, declared that "all Russians are equal regardless of religion," and charged the Russian priests with hoarding food while the people were starving.

The protest was a result of a report made by Archbishop Silvestre of Omsk. He had stated that churches were being destroyed by the wholesale and that twenty bishops and hundreds of priests had been murdered. Many were mutilated and some were flogged to death. In numerous instances arms were chopped off.

The report of the archbishop containing an appeal for aid was the first time that any such communication had passed between the Orthodox church of Russia and the Vatican.

British subjects must obtain permission from the American immigration authorities to leave the country, but such permit will not be issued until the British passport has been received. SAYS BRITISH IMPORT BAN IS TEMPORARY

Enthover Declares There Is No Desire to Begin Trade War With United States

By International News Service.

London, April 2.—Great Britain has no desire to lock horns commercially with the United States over the perplexing problem of import restrictions, and the whole question, which is now before the Lloyd George Cabinet, will be carefully and thoroughly considered, with a view to an amicable agreement as soon as the British ministers can find time to devote to the matter.

This was the gist of a statement made exclusively to the International News Service by R. E. Enthoven, controller of import restrictions in the United Kingdom.

"We realized," declared Mr. Enthoven, "that in the interests of world trade generally, these restrictions, concerning which there has been some misunderstanding, cannot be retained permanently. Originally they were adopted to save tonnage during the critical period of submarine warfare. They have been in conference ever since as a matter of self-preservation, and not with any idea of discrimination against any of our allies.

"If we were to fling the door wide open now we would be flooded in a short time with manufactured articles, so that at a time when we are at a distinct disadvantage in all of the old markets we might be in danger of losing even our own home markets by the time our manufacturers had readjusted their factories to meet the demands of commerce.

"Personally I believe there will be some system of licensing for the next few months, just as there was during the war. Total prohibition is seldom desirable. It will be fatal to all of us alike if, when we are just beginning to see the light of another day, after so much darkness in the world, we deal with economic questions without due consideration of the interests of all concerned.

"We knew how to combine our interests as allies to win the war, and it is even more imperative now that we should find some way in which to pool our interests to win the peace for which we have all been striving.

Allied Planes Better Than Germans in Closing Months

Washington, April 2. — The work of allied pursuit planes in the closing months of the war was greatly superior to that of enemy machines, according to figures just made public by the War Department.

These figures, based on the five leading types in use by each, show that the average horsepower of the former was 186, compared with 160 for the enemy. The allied machines were able to climb 1,140 feet per minute to an altitude of 6,5[illegible] feet, as against 705 feet per minute for the Germans, while the average speed at this altitude was 126 miles an hour for the allies and 103 for the Boches.

SECRET SERVICE CAMPAIGN BY SINN FEIN

Outwit British Police in Cork in Work of Getting Inside Facts

By D. O'CONNELL,
Special Correspondent of the International News Service.

Cork, Ireland, April 2.—The Sinn Fein organization has established a secret service. The leaders maintain that their secret service is learning as much about the other secret services as the latter are learning about the Sinn Feiners.

Some of the Irish constabulary are reported to be members of the Sinn Fein secret service. Young Sinn Feiners of good education are employed, or rather give their services free. They are working, it is said, with the understanding that if they are caught they face a long term in prison for their pains.

In many cases these men are even suspected by the Sinn Feiners themselves as being enemies, for in some instances they have been compelled to speak in public against the movement. The Sinn Feiners believe that their secret service is keeping them fully advised of all movements on the other side.

It is as probable as improbable that the men one meets propounding Unionist doctrines are members of the secret service trying to put others off their track. In only one real instance, it is reported, were the police able to bring off a coup unawares and that was when the leaders of the republican movement were arrested in the German plot.

The Sinn Feiners admit that the police were ahead of them in Dublin, but in Cork it is boasted that out of the total number of warrants issued only one man was caught and he at the time had no connection with the movement. The others were made aware of the police intentions twenty-four hours in advance and were able to get away.

Great Sendoff Given Irish Envoys Off to Get Hearing in Paris

By Universal Service.

New York, April 2.—The three envoys of the Irish convention to the Peace Conference sailed for France on the La Touraine. They were Edward F. Dunne, former Governor of Illinois; Frank P. Walsh, formerly joint chairman of the War Labor Board, and Michael J. Ryan, Philadelphia city solicitor.

The French Line Pier was thronged with "Friends of Irish Freedom," who enthusiastically waved the tricolor of the Irish republic as the ship moved out bearing the envoys.

Former Governor Dunne in a statement said:

"The commission is being sent, as the representatives of the Irish race in America, to present to the representatives of the Great Powers now sitting in Paris and considering the terms of peace with the Central Empires of Europe, and the proposed League of Nations, Ireland's right to a place among the nations of the earth.

"It is also to present Ireland's right to select her own form of government and her right to be represented in any possible League of Nations that may be formed.

"Before leaving, let me express to the Hearst papers my keen appreciation of the eminently fair and generous treatment that these papers have always given the Irish question, and particularly my appreciation of the splendid attitude they have taken in their recent editorials which have done so much to place the claims of Ireland fairly before the American people."

A statement that was made by Mr. Walsh soon after he went on board follows:

"Our plan of procedure is to present Ireland's cause first of all to our own representatives at the Peace Conference. It may be possible, depending upon developments, of course, that we shall take the case up also with the English representatives."

U. S. INDUSTRIAL BOARD MAY RESIGN

Washington, April 2.—The fate of the Industrial Board of the Department of Commerce, which has set out to stabilize industry through the fixing of prices in conference with the representatives of various industries, hung in the balance today.

Since the first meeting following which steel prices were agreed upon, the organization has been able to accomplish nothing and even the fixing of steel prices has not had the desired effect because of the failure of the railroad administration to agree to co-operate.

The members of the board, headed by Chairman Peek, were scheduled this afternoon to confer with Secretary of the Treasury Glass, Railways Director Hines and the heads of other purchasing departments of the government, in an effort to arrive at a definite policy of co-operation. If they fail of their purpose there is a well-defined report that the members of the board will tender their resignations.

It is understood that President Wilson has been appealed to by Secretary of Commerce Redfield to urge upon government agencies the importance and necessity of government heads co-operating with the industrial board, and that a reply has been received from the President in Paris. This reply was expected to be read at the conference this afternoon.

BREAKS BOSTON FISH CATCH RECORD

The steam trawler Albatross, Captain Peter Tobin, arrived at the Fish Pier today from the Georges Banks with the biggest catch on local record for the time out. In two days on the banks the trawler took in 230,400 pounds of fish, including halibut, 165,000; large cod, 55,000; small cod, 10,000 haddock, 400 pounds.

This was a fine farewell for Captain Tobin as master of the Albatross. He quit the vessel today. He will go to Portland tomorrow to supervise installation of machinery in the East Coast Fisheries Company's new trawler Sea Bird, which will be launched Saturday.

The Albatross' catch sold for more than $11,000. The bonus share of the crew amounted to $77 for each man, in addition to regular monthly wages.

The men felt that they earned the bonus. During the two days' fishing and up to the time the Albatross was approaching te pier the men worked twenty hours a day, catching and cleaning. Fish were piled high on the decks. When this was completed the wornout crew tumbled into their bunks.

PANIC CAUSED BY EXPLODING GASOLINE

A burning automobile tank truck, in the yard of the Jenney Manufacturing Company in South Boston, this morning, caused the ringing of two alarms from Box 7,161, and threatened the destruction of thousands of dollars' worth of property and possibly human life.

The alarms threw the neighborhood into a panic, because of the immense amount of gasoline and kerosene stored there, and the danger to the dwelling houses.

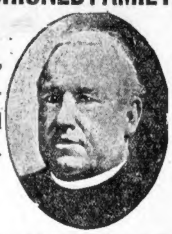

The origin of the fire was unknown. The truck was in charge of Dewey Burke and was being filled from one of the 3,000 gallon tanks in the yard. Burke knew nothing of it until he saw the flash of the explosion. Walter Jenney, a member of the firm, saw the flash from across the street and pulled in the alarm.

DEAR FOLKS:

THIS is a most important week in the history of Wilson & Co. Everybody in the whole organization is enthusiastic, "up on his toes" and proud.

This is the week that Wilson & Co. announce that they are producing Certified Ham and Bacon. All over the country the dealers are putting up window signs telling the news. Incidentally, I am coming to believe that the dealers who handle Wilson products are imbued with the same pride and confidence in the Wilson institution as are the 25,000 workers in the various plants and branches.

All these Wilson & Co. men and women are pleased as pleased can be this week because they have known for a long time that the company would put Certified Ham and Bacon on the market at this time. They have known of the care and skill and exactness with which these products were being perfected to deserve the Wilson Certified label. That "Certified" label is the ne plus ultra for any Wilson product. When it is placed on something it means that that particular food product is just as fine as it can be made, as pure as purity itself and as good as anything ever can be good to eat.

The name and fame of Wilson & Co. Certified products has grown up in the past two years. It started when the company brought out its line of canned fruits, vegetables and table specialties, giving them the name "Certified" and placing upon them a guarantee that the user would find them of the highest possible quality.

In their smoked meats "Majestic" was the label of their top-notch quality. Majestic Ham and Bacon were, and are, mighty well known and liked. Mr. Wilson saw the great popularity won by the "Certified" fruits and vegetables, and he said:

"We must have Certified Ham and Bacon. Can we make them good enough to deserve the Certified label?"

"We can and we will," was the prompt answer.

So there is a bit of history. It wasn't merely a question of curing and smoking ham and bacon of the most excellent quality. It was a matter of knowing at every step along the line that this ham and bacon was going to be good enough to be honored with the name of "Certified."

This means selecting the porkers themselves. They have to be porkers of excellent breeds, they have to be in the pink of condition, they have to show to the practiced eyes of the experts who select them that the quality is there. I have watched the production of Certified Ham and Bacon—watched the careful, skillful choosing of those hams and bacon sides. I have seen how precisely a ham is chosen, how exactly a bacon side is selected. There must be just such a proportion of fat and lean, the skin must be smooth, the ham or bacon must be visibly perfect. Then it is carefully trimmed and sent on through the curing and smoking departments. Nothing is hurried, for the men who have charge of this work tell me that hasty curing and smoking do not create the sweet, appetizing flavor and the hunger-satisfying taste that must characterize a fine piece of ham or bacon.

All the way through I noticed that these meats—as, indeed, are all other Wilson products—were handled and prepared with RESPECT. "Respect" is a fixed principle in the Wilson plant, and when you come to think of it, it is a pretty good idea to be respectful to foods. They deserve respect, if they are destined for your table, and the Wilson folks know this and show respect toward them.

I have told you in my previous letters how the spirit of good will and loyalty pervades the whole Wilson organization. I have tried to suggest that this spirit of pride and of fellowship is a guarantee that the products of Wilson & Co. will be all the better for it. Every worker in the Wilson plants feels this way about it, and that is why this week every one of them is so hugely glad and proud that Certified Ham and Bacon are being announced. Each of them feels—and knows—that here is another proof of what the heart and spirit of the Wilson organization means, and that once again their good faith and good will and good work will receive proper recognition and approval—and that from you and your family as well as from the responsible heads of the Wilson institution.

It is just because of this pride and loyalty and integrity of purpose that Wilson & Co. are able to offer to you Certified Ham and Bacon and to back them up with the highest guarantee in the world, namely: their own honor and that of their associate workers.

"Certified" is more than a name. It is a Standard. And it is a standard that must be maintained. A special committee of eight men carries the responsibility of determining that a product meets the Certified standard. And this standard includes everything in connection with the product—selection, preparation, wrapping, packing—even the style of the package and the labels.

This is the sort of care and thoughtfulness and honest desire to produce the best in the best way that has made the slogan, "The Wilson Label Protects Your Table," a statement of fact rather than a happy advertising phrase.

Sincerely, William C. Freeman, [...] Avenue, New York City.

PROF. WILSON QUOTES LODGE ON JAP PERIL

Refusing to Discuss Question, Harvard Educator Recalls Senate Resolution

Intimation that the same question which provoked the celebrated Magdalena Bay controversy is involved in the threatened colonization of Mexican territory by the Japanese was made today by Professor George Grafton Wilson, professor of international law at Harvard University.

Professor Wilson refused to be quoted on the legal aspects of the problem now enlisting the attention of the State Department at Washington, because of his official connection with the government as an adviser on matters involving the policy of the United States.

At his home, No. 4 Acacia street, Cambridge, today, Professor Wilson pointed out the impropriety of his entering into a discussion of the present Japanese situation, but ventured to suggest that the Senate resolution, introduced by Senator Lodge and passed on August 2, 1912, covered the ground sufficiently to silence any apprehension on the part of citizens of the United States.

Obtaining a copy of the Lodge resolution from his desk, Professor Wilson gave it to the American representative with the suggestion that a close perusal of the text would provide ample material in dealing with the present attempt of the Japanese to secure a foothold in Mexico.

THE LODGE RESOLUTION.

The Lodge resolution, which was introduced in the Senate as a result of the Magdalena Bay incident in which Japan sought to establish a naval base on the Pacific coast in 1912, reads as follows:

Resolved, That when any harbor or other place in the American continents is so situated that the occupation thereof for naval or military purposes might threaten the communications or the safety of the United States, the government of the United States could not see without grave concern the possession of such harbor or other places by any corporation or association which has such a relation to another government, not America, as to give that government practical power of control for naval or military purposes.

Senator Lodge, on request, made a statement on the resolution just before its passage. He said:

"This resolution rests on a generally accepted principle of the law of nations, older than the Monroe doctrine. It rests on the principle that every nation has a right to protect its own safety, and that if it feels that the possession by a foreign power, for military or naval purposes, of any given harbor or place is prejudicial to its safety, it is its duty as well as its right, to interfere. . . .

"It has been made necessary by a change of modern conditions, under which, while a Government takes no action itself, the possession of an important place of the character I have described may be taken by a corporation or association which would be under the control of the foreign Government.

IN THE INTEREST OF PEACE.

"The Monroe doctrine was, of course, an extension in our own interests of the underlying principle—the right of every nation to protect for its own safety. The Monroe doctrine, as we all know, was applied, so far as the taking possession of territory was concerned, to its being open to further colonization, and naturally did not touch upon the precise point involved here.

"The passage of this resolution has seemed to the committee, without division, I think, to be in the interest of peace. It is always desirable to make the position of a country in regard to a question of this kind known beforehand, and not to allow a situation to arise in which it might be necessary to urge a friendly power to withdraw when that withdrawal could not be made, perhaps, without some humiliation. The resolution is merely a statement of policy, allied to the Monroe Doctrine, of course, but not necessarily dependent upon it or growing out of it."

MRS. McCLURE IS GRANTED DIVORCE

Publisher Is Found Guilty of Misconduct With Maid in House

New York, April 2.—A jury last night exonerated Mrs. Frances G. McClure and found her husband, Henry H. McClure, well known publisher, guilty of misconduct with a servant in the McClure home.

The verdict, brought in before Justice McAvoy, ended a suit in which charges and counter charges flew thick and fast in a divorce action filed by Mrs. McClure. The first trial resulted in a mistrial when Mrs. McClure's attorney, Edward L. Mooney, called McClure's lawyer, Harold T. Marshall, 'a blundering fool."

The verdict was returned at 9:45 last night, after the jury had deliberated more than four hours. Mrs. McClure, who was sitting beside her mother, jumped to her feet all smiles. She and her mother kissed enthusiastically. She then shook hands with Neal R. White, whom McClure had named as co-respondent. Motions by the husband's lawyers to have the verdict set aside were denied.

At both trials witnesses testified Mrs. McClure and Nell White were found in her room early one morning after they thought McClure had gone to business. Both declared White had entered the room to hand Mrs. McClure a bottle of headache cologne.

Mrs. McClure, in counter-accusations, declared McClure had confessed to Stephen C. Baldwin, their mutual friend, his infatuation for a maid in the house.

Attorney Mooney, in addressing the jury yesterday, said the evidence was plain concerning the latter allegation. He said:

"McClure admitted kissing the servant, stating he did so while under the influence of liquor. All that remained to be done, the plaintiff being then willing, the defendant should get a divorce, was to agree upon the alimony.

"Then some wicked, evil-minded person put it into the head of McClure that there was a better way of getting rid of his wife—that there was no need of paying alimony all his life.

"So next we see him in a saloon, saying: 'I expect to get the goods on my wife.'"

Mr. Mooney assailed the testimony of Gertrude Peterson, the former maid, now housekeeper, who took the stand for McClure. He said the same woman had testified for McClure in a previous divorce suit. He quoted testimony to disprove what she had told the jury concerning the happenings in Mrs. McClure's room prior to the raid in which White was found there.

Tremont Street to Be 'Avenue Victorious' During Loan Drive

You have to go away from home to hear things. Here's the latest:

Tremont street, between Park and Boylston, will be known as "the Avenue Victorious" for the Fifth Liberty Loan Campaign beginning on April 21, according to dispatches from New York.

The street will be decorated with flags loaned from the "Avenue of the Allies" display of the Fifth Avenue Association, through which association the plans of Boston's campaign committee were made known.

Banners, emblems and other war trophies of the 27th Division are also to be loaned to Boston for the campaign, a Grecian temple is to be erected in Liberty Circle, and there is to be a "practice what you preach" parade of bankers and other business men on the opening day of the drive.

DENOUNCES CANADA'S SIBERIAN EXPEDITION

Ottawa, Ont., April 2.—Canada's action in sending an expeditionary force into Siberia was vigorously attacked in Parliament today by Thomas Viens, a French-Canadian member. He claimed that the United States had not provided near the quota of men that Canada had furnished for this purpose. N. W. Rowell, in reply, said that Canada had agreed to supply a certain number of men and must keep agreement with the allies, irrespective of the number of troops furnished by the United States.

STABBING CASE ON TRIAL AT LOWELL

Medical Examiner Magrath Testifies—State Claims Billerica Death Planned

Lowell, April 2.—Medical Examiner George B. Magrath of Boston and Professor Whitney, the medico-criminal investigator of Harvard University, are witnesses today at the trial in the Superior Court here of Joseph Cerdia and Francisco Feri, who are accused of having brutally murdered Louis Fred Soulis of Billerica on or about October 31 last.

District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts says the murder was carefully planned and brutally executed, and was one of the most heartless in the criminal annals of the State.

He says the State will show that the body of Soulis, found buried in soft sand near his desolate hut in the outskirts of Billerica, carries 26 wounds, three of them being bullet wounds and the others knife wounds.

A remarkable array of exhibits is on display in the court room. It includes a gun, oil can, pair of glasses, a pail containing a spoon, can opener, piece of leather, long piece of rope, short piece of looped rope, an overcoat, an automatic 32-calibre revolver, 32-calibre bullets, a whiskey bottle and cork, an envelope with cigarette cases, shoes, knife and a short coat.

Few Drops When Corns Hurt, Pain Stops! Corns Lift Out

Don't let corns ache twice! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers—Here's magic!

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without any pain. This drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati chemist.

Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus. It is the most marvelous drug known.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers.

Freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without any irritation.

Women! Keep freezone on your dresser and apply a few drops whenever a corn begins aching. Pain stops, corn goes!

HAT IN THE RING, SAYS COLONEL ROOSEVELT

May Run for Presidency of New York Aldermanic Board Next Fall

New York, April 2.—Lieutenant-Colonel Theodore Roosevelt's hat is in the ring, but for what office, the son of the former President declines to state.

"I have decided to follow in the footsteps of my father and enter politics," he said when questioned concerning the rumor that he would be Republican candidate for the presidency of the New York Board of Aldermen next Fall.

He declined to state, however, whether the aldermanic berth would prove acceptable to him, in case he received a formal invitation to run for that office, asserting that it was too soon for him to pick his initial goal.

He added that he was announcing his "hat was in the ring" only because he intended to retire from business and considered some explanation necessary. His present activities, he said, were confined to organization in this country of the World War Veterans' Association.

In making known his intention to retire from business Lieutenant-Colonel Roosevelt said he desired to devote himself "to public life," by which he said he meant "entering politics."

Of his aspirations he said:

"They depend upon what the public wishes me to do. I naturally am anxious to do what work I may be called upon to do in my own State—in the State in which my father was born, where I was born, and where we have always lived. Beyond that I don't see what I can say.

"I believe strongly in the principles advocated by my father. I believe strongly in the principle of universal military service. And I believe strongly in undiluted nationalism."

MERTON BURKE DECORATED IN ITALY

Boston Newspaperman Receives Cross for "Special Service" From Duke of Aosta

Merton E. Burke, a Boston newspaperman, who lives in Roslindale has been decorated by the Duke of Aosta, first cousin of King Victor Emmanuel III. of Italy.

The decoration — a white cross bearing a silver crown and Lion of St. Mark's — was awarded to Mr. Burke for some service whose nature is a mystery. Mr. Burke, in a letter to a Boston friend, makes brief allusion to the decoration and says he may explain some time.

Mr. Burke went abroad last December about the time President Wilson sailed on his first trip to the peace conference.

He has traveled extensively in Europe since then. He wrote from Venice, where he had just arrived by airship from Pola.

COVERED DISTANCE IN 28 MIN.

This means that Burke had flown across the upper waters of the Adriatic Sea. Pola is the Austrian naval base on the eastern shore of the Adriatic. The distance from there, in direct line, across to Venice, the storied city of canals, gondolas and the Bridge of Sighs, is about eighty miles. The airship traversed the distance in thirty-eight minutes, which is at the rate of about 125 miles an hour. Burke's letter reads in part:

"Hotel Royal Daniell, Venice,
March 7, 1919.

"Time flies and I have just flown from Pola to Venice in thirty-eight minutes. It will take some five or more hours to go back by boat.

"Seems funny, doesn't it, for me to be way off here in places we hardly knew by name a little while ago. But when here it seems quite the natural thing and home is so far away that the sense of distance is lost and I do not seem farther away than Chelsea and I may step out any time and take the trolley home.

OFF FOR JUGO-SLAVIA.

"My experiences and adventures I cannot begin to write from here.

"Suffice to say, I'm off again to the Dalmatian shore on an Italian torpedo boat and expect to go inland into Jugo-Slavia.

"Last Sunday the Duke d'Aosta formally presented me the personal decoration which he awarded to men in his Third Army in record and recognition. It is a white cross with a silver St. Mark's Lion and crown. It is highly treasured in Italy, especially in the Venetian sector.

"Just what happened to lead him to give me this decoration I'll tell you when I return—maybe. It's the real goods and it didn't come to me for nothing, rest assured, but it came as a great surprise and unexpected."

Springtime always brings with it joy and distress. The distress is in the form of catarrh, neuralgia, rheumatic pains, constipation, inactive kidneys and usually a feverish, sluggish lethargy that is hard to throw off.

Do you remember how grandmother fed you sulphur and molasses every spring to purify the blood? It was a good, old-fashioned, but nauseous remedy. Now you can take sulphur, cream of tartar and herbs in tablet form. A better remedy, easy and pleasant to take in Sulpherb Tablets. Sold by all druggists. A laxative, blood purifier of unequalled merit for those who are constipated and suffering in any way from such pent-up poisons. Each package is guaranteed to give wonderfully satisfactory results. SHAW COMEDY REVIVED AT THE COPLEY

"Arms and the Man" Gives Pleasure to Large Audience

"Arms and the Man," a three-act comedy by Bernard Shaw, was revived by the Jewett Players at the Copley Theatre. Miss Jessamine Newcombe played Raina, and Leonard Craske, the "chocolate cream soldier"; others in the cast were Phyllis Relph, Viola Roach, E. E. Clive, Cameron Matthews, Fred W. Permain and Noel Leslie.

A DELIGHTFUL PLAY.

"Arms and the Man" is well classed in the group of "Pleasant Plays." It is delightful: a play about war without either horror or clap-trap except for purposes of comedy. It gives pleasure to see the heroine's romantic nonsense smartly rapped on the head and the props knocked from under her poses; to see the exaggerated heroics give way to a very human love, and the tailor's model officer supplanted by a soldier who knows when to fight and when to run away.

CAPITAL PERFORMANCE.

It is one of Shaw's most entertaining plays, and well worth an annual appearance. The performance was on the whole capital. Most of the actors were in roles they had previously taken here, and well cut, too.

Miss Newcombe, Mr. Craske, Miss Roach and Mr. Matthews had the bulk of the performance and were excellent in individual and concerted action. Mr. Clive gave distinction to a role which might easily be made grotesque.

There was a large audience, enthusiastic in applause.

KNIVES FIGURE IN WILKINS MYSTERY

Bloodstained Blades Found in Doctor's Home to Be Examined

Minsola, L. I., April 2.—Three blood stained knives, found in the home of Dr. Walter K. Wilkins, in New York, may have some connection with the mystery surrounding the murder of Mrs. Wilkins, according to detectives working on the case today.

It is not believed that the knives may be connected with the attack on Mrs. Wilkins which resulted in her death, but it is thought they may have had something to do with the silencing of Dr. Wilkins' collie dog, which was injured, apparently before Mrs. Wilkins was murdered.

One of the knives was a hunting knife with a four-inch blade. The other was an ordinary pocket knife. The blood stains on both knives are apparently only a few weeks' old. The stains will be examined to determine whether they were made by human or animal blood.

BEST ROUTE TO CAMP DEVENS BY AUTO

Three Possible Roads Which Visitors to Army Cantonment May Take

All Massachusetts [illegible] Camp Devens next [illegible]

[illegible] visitors [illegible] home [illegible] against [illegible] as the [illegible] immigra[illegible] [illegible] them [illegible]

But even if visitors from home are denied a sight of their soldiers there will nevertheless be a tremendous hegira to Ayer. Fond relatives and lovers will try to be as near as possible to their heroes and thousands will undoubtedly line the roads for nothing more than to look over the [illegible] land of [illegible]

[illegible] quarters [illegible] the [illegible] machines [illegible] Ayer [illegible] ges [illegible] be [illegible] Boston [illegible] those [illegible] canton[illegible] exam[illegible] of the roads to the camp and [illegible] three [illegible] lar [illegible]

CHOICE OF FIVE ROADS.

Beyond Concord these are identical, as there is [illegible] except by [illegible] direct roads which are [illegible] specially [illegible] From Boston [illegible] cord, however, there are at least five roads to [illegible] three of these are considered [illegible] One of the latter [illegible] Concord [illegible] from its beginning at Cambridge [illegible] into Concord [illegible] narrow [illegible] son of the year [illegible] to be full of deep ruts and mud holes so that it should be avoided.

Persons coming from the North Shore [illegible] Harvard bridge into [illegible] here [illegible] ting a [illegible] Hills, but they are extremely complicated and hard to follow.

It must be remembered that no perfect road exists continuously on any of the following routes. Winter and the army trucks have made a [illegible] of practically all roads leading in and out of Camp Devens.

ROUTE ONE.

Although a little the longest of the three routes from Boston to Ayer this one undoubtedly affords the best roadbed and in [illegible] the least traffic, as the [illegible] road here given as Route Two is plainly marked for Ayer and most persons go that way. Route One leads through Lexington, Bedford and Concord.

Starting at the Cambridge end of Harvard bridge the more direct way is, of course, to follow Massachusetts avenue [illegible] Harvard square [illegible] but [illegible] be found [illegible] drive [illegible] the Charles [illegible] Farm [illegible] [illegible] for Massachusetts [illegible] and [illegible] setts avenue just outside Harvard square.

Passing the end of the Mohawk Trail and continuing on through Lexington, take the middle road at the Minute Man (leaving Lexington Green on the left) [illegible] road and continue straight out [illegible] to Bedford [illegible] an amusement park [illegible] right [illegible]

Arriving at Bedford [illegible] Get on [illegible] town and take [illegible] junction just beyond [illegible] [illegible] square at Concord [illegible] flag pole [illegible] track out to the right [illegible] mile out of the square [illegible] the road [illegible] At this corner [illegible] junctions [illegible] bearing [illegible] "Ayer" [illegible] Concord [illegible] go wrong.

From Concord to Ayer the worst of the road will be encountered. These last seventeen miles have to stand the brunt of all the traffic to and from the camp and in places [illegible] very bad [illegible] road passes the Massachusetts Reformatory [illegible] A mile beyond [illegible] a fork [illegible] North Acton, along the shore of Lake Nagog.

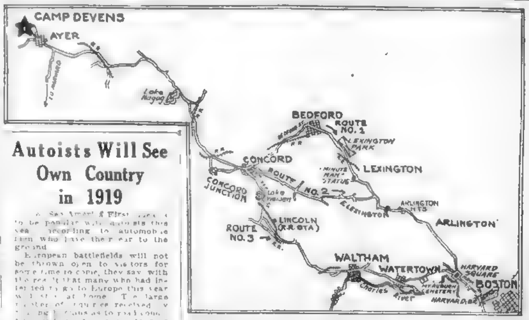

At Littleton postoffice, where there are four corners, take the left-hand road along the village green and about one-fifth of a mile further on bear to the left at another fork. [illegible] beyond [illegible] the Littleton [illegible] another fork [illegible] "Ayer."

After crossing the railroad and approaching [illegible] the buildings at Camp Devens [illegible] reaching the centre of Ayer turn sharp right and cross a bridge over the railroad [illegible] [illegible]

ROUTE TWO.

The route out from Boston [illegible] same as Route One, to beyond Arlington Heights.

THREE-ROAD AUTO ROUTE, BOSTON TO AYER

Autoists Will See Own Country in 1919

European battlefields will not be thrown open to visitors for some time to come, they say, with the result that many who had intended to go to Europe this year will stay at home. The large [illegible] of inquiries received [illegible] [illegible] Several bureaus are preparing touring matter [illegible] [illegible] the American Automobile Association, the [illegible] A. L. A. and others. Reports from [illegible] indicate that already [illegible] roads are being [illegible]

[illegible] Massachusetts avenue [illegible] two miles out from Boston [illegible] the right at three corners. A quarter of a mile further [illegible] the right-hand road [illegible] and at three corners bear to the right. This road will continue [illegible] square by the flag pole and from there the route is the same as Route One.

ROUTE THREE.

Starting at the Cambridge end of the Harvard bridge follow the Charles River speedway to its end. This will be found [illegible] of a mile beyond the Larz Anderson bridge where the drive ends at Mt. Auburn street. Here turn to the left with the car tracks, pass Mt. Auburn cemetery and at the junction beyond take the left hand road following the car tracks into Watertown.

Cross the railroad at Watertown and turn sharp to the [illegible] into Watertown square. Continue [illegible]

A plebiscite of hall room inhabitants would show that they don't care whether they are tagged guests or boarders. They only object to the paying stuff. That's out.

THE DARK STAR

THRILLING ROMANCE OF AN AMERICAN GIRL

One of the Newest and Best Novels of Intrigue, Love and War From This Famous Author's Pen, Full of Vivid Human Interest

Synopsis of the Story So Far

Rubannah Carew, born in Trebizond, daughter of an American missionary, Reverend Wilbour Carew, accompanies her parents to their old home in Gayfield, New York State, after the father had been crippled by a Mohammedan fanatic. Her favorite amusement is playing with the wonder box of the late Herr Conrad Wilner, a few pages of whose diary are always read by her father or mother to her as a bedtime story. The box contains treasures with which Rue plays and finds absorbing interest. She learns from the diary that Wilner saw the box being dropped from a yacht in the Bosphorus and fished it up with the body of a beautiful girl sewn in a sack.

Wilner, as an agent of the German government, makes plans for fortifying Gallipoli. The duplicates of these are stolen and he gets evidence that the Turks seek his life. He gives the box to Rev. Mr. Carew for safe keeping, with instructions to send the plans to Berlin in case he is killed. He is stoned to death, but Mr. Carew keeps the papers. Rue, as she grows up, longs to be an artist, but the family has only a pension and it is decided she must go to work. She meets Dick Neeland, who had known her as a child and who is now an artist. He dances with her and tells her of his success. She dreams of making a name for herself. Then through auto accident she meets Ed Brandes, a race track gambler.

CHAPTER VIII.

A Change Impends

Copyright, 1917, by Robert W. Chambers.

THE racing season at Saratoga drew toward its close, and Brandes had appeared there only twice in person, both times with a very young girl.

"If you get to bring her here to the races can't you get her some clothes?" whispered Stull in his ear. "That get-up of hers is something fierce."

Late hours, hot weather, indiscreet nourishment and the feverish anxiety incident to betting other people's money had told on Stull. His eyes were like two smears of charcoal on his pasty face. Sourly he went about the business which Brandes should have attended to, nursing resentment—although he was doing better than Brandes had hoped to do.

Their joint commission from his winnings began to assume considerable proportions, and track and club and hotel people were beginning to turn and stare when the little man with the face of a sick circus clown appeared, always alone, greeting with pallid effrontery his acquaintances [illegible] noticing [illegible] nor politics [illegible] fair and [illegible] envy he was [illegible].

Obsequious [illegible] hotel and racing officials [illegible] pression on him; he went about his business alone, [illegible] deathly pale, asking no information, requesting no favors, conferring with nobody [illegible] springs and enduring none.

After a little study of that white, sardonic [illegible] face people who would have been glad to make use of him became discouraged. And those who first had recognized him in Saratoga found, at the end of the racing month, nothing to add to their general identification of him as "Ben Stull, partner of Eddie Brandes—Western sports."

Stull, whispering in Brandes' ear again, where he sat beside him in the grand stand, added to his earlier comment on Rubannah's appearance:

"Why don't you fix her up, Ed [illegible]

As for Rubannah, she sat with slender gloved hands tightly clasped, lips parted, intent, fascinated with the [illegible] beauty of the scene.

Brandes looked at her and his heavy, expressionless features altered [illegible]

"[illegible]" he said.

A [illegible] was her response. A [illegible] then repressed excitement was breaking out; men stood up and shouted, women rose, and the club house seemed suddenly to blossom like a tangled garden of wind-tossed flowers.

Through the increasing cheering Stull [illegible] without a sign of emotion [illegible] or [illegible] in the Sanford [illegible], sat aside [illegible]

Suddenly Rubannah stood up, one hand pressed to [illegible] fitting [illegible] beating [illegible] Brandes [illegible] beside her. Not a [illegible] his features moved.

SOME KILLING.

[illegible] whispered Stull in his ear as they were leaving.

[illegible] added Brandes [illegible] deliberate voice. His heavy [illegible] face was deeply flushed [illegible] the noisy wanton [illegible] arms around [illegible] eyes were [illegible] slim young girl whom he was teaching to walk [illegible] at taking [illegible]

[illegible] before the [illegible] Hotel [illegible] Stull decided [illegible] several men in the passing crowds bowed to Brandes [illegible] Sexton Smawley, known to the fraternity as "Parson" Smawley, came out to the curb to shake hands. Brandes introduced him to Rue as "Parson" Smawley—whether with some sinister future purpose already beginning to take shape in his round, heavy head or whether a perverted sense of humor prompted him to give Rue the idea that she had been in good company it is difficult to determine.

He added that Miss Carew was the daughter of a clergyman and a missionary. And the Parson took his cue. At any rate Rue, learning from her seat, listened to the persuasive and finely modulated voice of Parson Smawley with pleasure, and found his sleek, graceful presence and courtly manners most agreeable. There were no such persons in Gayfield.

She hoped, shyly, that if he were in Gayfield he would call on her father. Once in a very long while clergymen called on her father, and their rare visits remained a pleasure to the lonely invalid for months.

The Parson promised to call, very gravely. It would not have embarrassed him to do so; it was his business in life to have a sufficient knowledge of every man's business to enable him to converse convincingly with anybody.

He took polished leave of her; took leave of Brandes with the faintest flutter of one eyelid, as though he understood Brandes' game. Which he did not; nor did Brandes himself, entirely.

Advice to the Lovelorn

A Rigorous Love-Test

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am in love with a young lady who has written me to go away for one year and prove to her that I am worthy. Knowing that I can do no better in other cities would you advise me to go away, inasmuch as I am willing to do anything for her? Or what steps would you advise me to take? J. H. S.

Little Lost Youth of Me

By Eleanore Myers Jewett

From Good Housekeeping

LITTLE lost youth of me, where are you roaming,
You who were part of me only today?
Why did you slip from me out in the gloaming,
Little lost youth of me, vanished away?

Merry the sun in the morning was streaming,
Laughter bent over me, friendship was nigh,
Love sat beside me, whose raiment was gleaming,
And you, little youth of me, nestled close by.

Sorrow looked in at my casement, and slowly
Laughter and sunshine grew silent and gray,
Friendship drew closer, and love became holy,
But you, little youth of me, wandered away.

Sorrow has passed, and the sun is returning,
Laughter and friendship and love are as dear,
Now, when I seek you with infinite yearning,
Little lost youth of me, you are not here.

Little lost youth of me, why did you leave me?
You of my life were so lovely a part!
Long will the wraith of you haunt me and grieve me,
Little lost youth of me, slipped from my heart.

Keeping the Family Skeleton

By Brice Belden, M. D.

WE suppose that no single notion has done more harm than the false idea that many persons entertain regarding heredity. Nothing is more common than to see people succumb to an obsession that certain things are "in the family" when there is no good reason for their attitude.

Alcoholism has often been excused on the ground that father had the taste. Very often in such cases the doctrine of heredity is invoked to screen selfish indulgence and unwarranted debauchery.

There can be no overestimating the influence upon the young and impressionable of constantly hearing supposed family failings discussed. Naturally, they grow up full of notions that are 90 per cent erroneous, and a vast amount of unnecessary nervous invalidism results.

If children could start their lives knowing nothing of their ancestry the majority of them would acquit themselves very well in life, even if abnormal tendencies were in the family line. Imagine the effect upon a person in whose family runs the tradition that all members of it "go to the bad" at the age of forty.

A wholesome tendency in the right direction seems to be developing today, however, and there is less and less coddling of children. It is precisely the delicate child who should not be coddled, and right here we wish to say that so-called delicate children are often delicate only in the minds of their fond and foolish parents. As a matter of fact, no child should be coddled.

Heredity does not play nearly so large a part in the domain of disease as was once supposed. What we do inherit very often, speaking practically, are the habits and environment of our progenitors. If our ancestors died of tuberculosis, for example, because they kept their windows closed, and did not keep their teeth in good repair, and used alcohol too freely, and worked under unhygienic conditions, there is no reason to insist that we shall die of tuberculosis, too, if only we emancipate ourselves from their bad habits and improve our environment.

Nature sees to it that practically all babies are born healthy.

Housewives Who Dared

By Loretto C. Lynch

NO, it wasn't exactly that she needed the money. Nevertheless she needed work. For when a great sorrow comes and seems to stay and crush the spirit and break the heart, the [illegible] remedy is work. Work [illegible] is not a [illegible] to [illegible] think. And when Mrs. Millicent Skeffington lost her husband on the field of battle she felt that work she must, lest she die of a broken heart.

Before her marriage Mrs. Skeffington had been a child's nurse. In fact, she was a nurse for several years in England. How well she remembered the years of saving and self-denial both she and Albert had lived to get together the little home that should be their very own. Finally he came to America, and after a whole year of waiting the letter to come brought Millicent to our shores.

For a whole year Albert and Millicent were happy. How wonderful it was to dust a mahogany table of one's very own! What greater delight than to set that show-off, company table with that fine Belgian linen! And then England, in her dark hours, called to her sons everywhere. He answered. He did not return.

Millicent looked at her little home. She could not bear to part with it. Perhaps never again could she accumulate sufficient to have such a home. In the apartment house in which she lived there were mothers with children—not many children—one, two, perhaps three. Mrs. Skeffington loved children. She regretted she had none of her own.

But when a woman loves her home and wants it with all her heart, what will she not do to try to keep that home?

Out of her living room she made a nursery. She sent little cards to the superintendent of several apartment houses in the neighborhood with the request that the cards be posted in the elevator. She did not forget to send a box of cigars—good ones—with the little cards. They read something like this:

"Mrs. Millicent Skeffington, formerly nurse to the children of Lady Canfield, will care for your baby while you shop, travel, attend the theatre or work. Terms reasonable. Best of references furnished.

"No. 9 Main street, Apartment 5."

The neighborhood was composed of people of the middle class. Younger couples with a child or two who could not afford a child's nurse gladly paid fifty cents to have each child properly cared for while they attended the theatre. This included the child's breakfast if it remained in the nursery until morning. She charged fifty cents for each half day's care and gave the child suitable food.

She replaced her living room rug with linoleum. She invested in a zinc-lined sand table such as kindergartens have. Its fine white sand and her kindly methods seemed to hold the attention of even naughty kiddies for many a happy hour, while mother shopped or visited or just went out for a good time with father. For the older kiddies there were story books and building blocks and tiny rocking chairs.

Since the same children did not come more often than once a week or once in two weeks, they did not tire of the toys Mrs. Skeffington provided. She had a little income from the government her late husband had served. In fact, she could have got along on it. But she realized that if she were to live, if she were to try to forget, if she were to really attempt to keep her home, she had to get some kind of work.

She sometimes earned thirty dollars in a month and sometimes she made as much as fifty.

Blissful Land

The Bishop was addressing the Sunday school. In his most expressive tone he was saying:

"And now, children, let me tell you a very sad fact. In Africa there are 10,000,000 square miles of territory without a single Sunday school where little boys and girls can spend their Sundays. Now, what should we all try to save up our money and do?"

And the class, as one voice, replied in ecstatic union: "Go to Africa."

HEALTHY BOWELS

Nine-tenths of human sickness, from infancy to old age, comes from stomach or bowels being out of order.

Headaches, tired feeling, nervous depression, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness and many other signs of sickness stop if you treat the stomach and bowels right and get them into working order.

The prescription, known as Dr. True's Elixir, has done wonders for sick people, men, women and children, because it is the one remedy that you can rely on to set things right in the stomach and bowels.

Sold by all druggists, big or little everywhere. Druggists, as a rule, are very honest. They do not try to substitute something else for Dr. True's Elixir, because they know its value. Many druggists use it in their own families.

A PRESENT DAY AMERICAN ROMANCE

Interesting Story of Love at Cross Purposes of Two Sisters and a Man

By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER LVII.—CONTINUED

Copyright, 1919, Star Company.

KATIE'S footsteps sounded on the stairs coming down from Mrs. Higgins' room. Honora snatched up the bottle of peach brandy and thrust it and the glasses—still unwashed—into the sideboard.

Then, as Katie entered the room, Honora greeted her, asked about Mrs. Higgins' condition and went on into the library, Arthur and Mildred following her dumbly.

Here she closed the door and turned to her sister.

"Stop crying!" she ordered, for Mildred had begun to sob hysterically. "There is enough to cry about, goodness knows! But you are not the one to be considered just now."

"Oh, no!" Mildred exclaimed, her anger drying her tears. "I suppose not! You never have any sympathy for me, no matter how hard things are for me!

"You can pity Arthur because his father's ill, yet you can't pity me when Arthur gets angry with me. Why is he here, anyway? Why didn't he stay at home if his father is as sick as you people say he is?"

"His father died two hours ago."

The words were said in a low voice, but Mildred started as if she had been struck by a whip.

"Dead!" she gasped. "Dead!"

"Yes," Honora went on mercilessly. "And in spite of all Arthur's grief and need of your sympathy he would not send for you. For the same reason he would not let me telephone you. Instead, he waited until Mrs. Bruce's cousin arrived to stay with her for a few hours, then he came here to break the news to you gently. This is why we came in so softly. Arthur did not want to startle you."

CHAPTER LVIII.

THERE was a silence after Honora had finished speaking. Then without a word, Arthur moved toward the door.

His action aroused Mildred from her momentary consternation.

She took a step in his direction. "Arthur," she said, "I am sorry for you. I did not know—I did not understand. Surely you can't blame me for not knowing what was not told me. It's all pretty hard on me."

"You cannot blame me," she repeated weakly when Arthur did not respond. "I have said I am sorry for your trouble."

She paused, embarrassed by his unmoved demeanor. "Thank you," he rejoined formally. "I quite understand your position."

A smart rapping on the floor above broke in upon the awkward scene.

"That's Mrs. Higgins knocking for one of us," Honora said. "I forgot her! I will go to her."

Arthur held out his hand when she would have passed him. "I must go back home," he murmured. "Good-night."

"Good night!" she returned. Then her hand in his, she spoke hurriedly. "Remember, if your mother needs me I will come to her at once. Unless"—with a glance at Mildred.

But Arthur interrupted her. "I will remember, thank you. If cousin Carrie must go back to Wildwood tonight mother may want you. If," with decision, "she cannot have you she will not consent to have anyone else. Good night again—and thank you!"

He went from the room and from the house, and Honora ran on up to Mrs. Higgins' room.

Mildred Is Abashed

Left alone in the library, Mildred Brent stood baffled by the sudden turn that events had taken. Tom had gone home; Arthur was horrid to her; Honora had gone off to Mrs. Higgins just as if she, Mildred, did not need comfort.

Her indignation grew as she considered the position in which she had been thrust. She, the betrothed of Arthur Bruce, had not been condoled with, indeed had not been considered any more than if she were Katie O'Brien out in the kitchen. The only person who had treated her as if she were a being that could be wounded was Tom Chandler. And he was going away tomorrow.

Well, he was not going by an early train. She would get in touch with him in some way before he left.

That would serve Arthur right. He had behaved abominably to her. If one might judge by appearances, Tom loved her better than Arthur did.

Upstairs, Honora was telling Mrs. Higgins of Mr. Bruce's death. The matron, hearing voices below, had become uneasy and had rapped on the floor when her bell failed to bring someone to her room—someone from whom she could learn what had occurred.

"Poor Mrs. Bruce and poor Arthur!" she said now. "It is cruelly hard on them. I am thankful his mother has him, and am so glad that he has Mildred. It must have been a shock to her, too. She was so nervous and upset this afternoon about Arthur's unhappiness."

"Was she?" Honora asked the question involuntarily.

"Yes—that was the reason I urged her to keep her caller to dinner."

"Oh!" Honora looked puzzled. "Then it was your invitation, was it?"

"Not exactly that—and yet in a way it was my invitation. You see Mildred was up here with me—and she was so depressed and so unhappy about the trouble at the Bruce's (although she did not then know how near the end was), and she was so blue about having dinner all alone that I told her to keep Miss Jasper to dinner."

"Miss Jasper!"

New Young Lady

"Yes, the new young lady at Mr. Hilton's office, you know. Has she gone away yet, my dear?"

"She was not here when we came in," Honora replied.

"Well, she arrived late, so I told Mildred to keep her to dinner. Then when young Mr. Chandler came, and Mildred asked if she might invite him also, I said she might.

"I know it was rather unconventional, without a chaperone, but with Miss Jasper here to keep her company it seemed not so bad. I explained to Mildred that if she did not have a girl friend here I would not have permitted her to have a man dine with her. But as it was I consented, for I was very sorry for our little Mildred."

"I see," Honora said.

She remembered perfectly that when she and Arthur had entered the dining room there were but two places laid at the table.

GREAT GROWTH OF EXPORTS SINCE WAR

Out of 100 Representative Products Shipment of About 70 Increase

The decrease in European industrial activity as the result of the war is indicated by the increase in exportation of manufactured products since the armistice. While foreigners have not begun to supply themselves with all the materials and goods needed, partly because they lack the money for purchasing, their importations have been greatly increased by absolute necessity. For four years the Europeans belligerents were devoting capital, plants and energies almost exclusively to making munitions.

According to a compilation by the National City Bank of New York comparing exportation from the United States in the two months following the close of the war with the corresponding months preceding the struggle, out of approximately 100 representative articles shipments of seventy showed a large increase in quantity.

MORE COTTON CLOTH SHIPPED.

In cotton cloths the quantity exported in the months of December, 1918, and January, 1919, aggregates 106,755,000 yards, against 28,773,000 yards in December, 1913, and January, 1914; in electric lamps the number in the 1918-1919 period is 3,749,391, against only 368,114 in the corresponding pre-war period; in plate glass the quantity in the 1918-1919 period is 1,701,000 square feet, against but 6,546 square feet in the 1913-1914 period; of rubber boots the number exported in the two months since the war was 37,884 pairs, against 17,167 pairs in the corresponding pre-war period, and in rubber shoes there was also a material increase over the pre-war period. Boots and shoes of leather also show large gains in the number of pairs, men's boots and shoes having been in the 1918-1919 period, 1,551,978, against 690,176 pairs in the corresponding months preceding the war, while of women's and children's shoes there was also a large gain.

IRON AND STEEL INCREASES.

In iron and steel there is a very large increase in the quantities exported. Pig iron in the months of December, 1918, and January, 1919, aggregated 81,334 tons against 38,294 tons in the corresponding pre-war months; bar iron 45,915,000 lbs., against 2,292,000; steel bars and rods 214,331,000 lbs., against 73,342,000; steel billets 75,484 tons against 5,046 tons in the coresponding months of 1913-1914; wire nails 28,232,000 lbs., against 13,203,000 lbs. in the pre-war period; steel rails 110,000 tons, against 40,138; steel plates 296,012,000 lbs., against 45,384,000; galvanized sheets 24,015,000 lbs., against 13,983,000; and tin plates 98,650,000 lbs., against 13,322,000 lbs. in the corresponding period preceding the war, the months of December, 1913, and January, 1914.

Practically all classes of mineral oil show advances in quantities as well as value in the after-war period, and this is also true of cigarettes and tobacco, printing and other paper, candles, sugar, paraffin, paints, wood-pulp, sole leather, pianos, locomotives, cement, sulphate of copper, cordage, automobiles, motorcycles and many other manufactured articles.

VALUATION OF EXPORTS.

The total value of all manufactures exported from the United States for the months of December, 1918, and January, 1919, aggregates $790,000,000, while that for the months of December, 1913, and January and February, 1914, aggregates but $2[illegible]7,000,000, and while this grand total of all manufactures exported includes many articles for which quantities cannot be shown, it is quite apparent from the bank's compilation of those articles for which quantities are stated that there is a large actual increase, thus apparently justifying the hope that the manufacturers are likely to retain in peace times a very considerable share of their gains in exportation made during the war period.

GOVERNMENT TRYING NEW AEROPLANE ENGINE FUEL

Experiments are being tried by a government bureau in Washington with a new combustion engine fuel which will conserve the nation's gasolene supply if successful, it is stated. It can be employed by aeroplane, boat and automobile motors. According to Commander Dyer of the Bureau of Steam Engineering results are satisfactory so far.

The United States Industrial Alcohol Company holds the patents and Chairman H. S. Rebems of its directorate says the invention is a fuel alcohol produced after years of work in the corporation's research department.

City Loans

Worcester, Mass., will receive bids to 12 noon, April 2, for the purchase at discount of $100,000 temporary loan dated April 3, maturing November 5, 1919.

Chelsea, Mass., has sold a $360,000 temporary loan, maturing April 2, 1920, to Blake Brothers & Co. at 4.78 per cent. plus $11 premium.

OILS ADVANCE IN MIDDAY TRADING

Shipping and Copper Issues Hold Gains; Specialties the Feature

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were still strong in New York in the afternoon, although profit-taking had reduced the gains of many. During midday oils advanced, but other groups at their best did little more than remain steady. Business had decreased in volume, and throughout the day it was mostly in small lots. More participation on the part of the public was reported. Barrett Company became active during the noon hour and shot up nearly four points. Money was easier in tendency, call rates being 5 per cent. on mixed collateral and 5½ per cent. on industrials.

GAINS IN THE AFTERNOON.

Gains in the afternoon included U. S. Steel, ⅞, at 99½, after selling at 99¾ at its highest; Crucible, ⅞, at 66&; Anaconda, ⅞, at 62⅜; Utah Copper, ¾, at 75⅝; Inspiration, ½, at 51; Chinto, 1, at 36¾; Baldwin, 1⅞, 89⅝; Atlantic Gulf, 2⅞, at 121¼; Marine preferred, 1⅝, at 114⅝; Mexican Petroleum, 2½, at 183.

Texas Co. 3¼, at 212⅝; United Cigar Stores 1, at 134; Sumatra 1, at 112½; American Smelting 1, at 70⅝; Hide & Leather preferred ⅛, at 101, after selling at the highest record price of 101⅝; common 1½, at 22¼, its highest record price; Industrial Alcohol 1¼, at 149¾; Barrett Co. 3⅞, at 124; International Paper 1¼, at 46⅛; Union Pacific 1, at 129¼, and Southern Pacific ⅝, at 102.

Among declines were: Corn Products, ⅜ at 59; General Motors, ½ at 170¾, and American Can, ¼ at 51¼.

At noon the market tone was described as "more uniformly bullish than it has been for some time." On Wall Street this was said to indicate widespread belief that the conference at Paris will settle on peace terms soon. While standard stocks joined in the upward mob movement, largest gains were attained by specialties. Notably strong stocks included Industrial Alcohol, Texas Co., Marine preferred, Atlantic Gulf, International Paper, Baldwin and Inspiration. They all advanced two points or more. U. S. Steel was up one at its highest. The rise in copper share prices was attributed to the belief that the metal has touched bottom as to price, and will soon be in greatly increased demand. Business in rails was moderate, and as a group they changed but little in valuations. Shipping issues retained their strength but prices for these shares and stocks in general were below their morning highest by noon.

UNITED FRUIT'S LARGE GAIN.

United Fruit was the strongest issue on the Boston exchange, opening with a gain and continuing upward during the morning. Before noon it showed a gain of more than four points. Atlantic Gulf at its highest here was up more than three. The packing stocks were not so prominent as they have generally been of late. Eastern Massachusetts Railway Corporation was quoted on the tape "when and as if issued," although it is not listed on the exchange. It was inactive. There was some trading in Island Oil, but it had no range of consequence. Massachusetts Electric issues were also narrow. Trading in the local market was dull.

Afternoon gains in Boston included United Fruit, 3¾ at 172½, after selling as high as 173; U. S. Smelting, 1¼ at 51¼; Osceola, 3 at 50; New Cornelia, ¾ at 16¾; Ahmeek, ¼ at 69; Edison, 2 at 169, and Boston Elevated, ½ at 69½. Among declines were Swift, 1½ at 140; Swift International, ¾ at 61¾, and Fairbanks, ¼ at 57½.

PRICES ADVANCE AT START.

Opening prices in New York were higher and trading was brisk at the very outside. U. S. Steel sold at a half-point rise at the very outset, which gave an intimation of trading sentiment. It was more bullish, although the professional element is considerably committed in the other direction. The more important financial interests, however, are understood to view the outlook as propitious for a long continuation of the advance which began about two months ago. There was satisfaction in banking and business quarters over the demand for immediate peace action made at Paris by President Wilson. All that is needed for a great trade expansion in this country is a determination of peace problems and the placement of the next government loan. After that the American people will get busy at peace business.

SHIPPING ISSUES ADVANCED.

Shipping issues were strong and active at the opening. Atlantic Gulf soon sold at its highest since 1916. It is possible that in the future sea trade may be as profitable to this country as it was prior to the Civil War. A large proportion of the capital that developed the resources of the United States was taken off the seven seas. If one war destroyed the ocean commerce of this country, another may restore it. Leathers continued a strong group. Hide and Leather preferred and common sold at record highest prices within an hour. The market tone improved during that period, but this was largely due to specialties. Standard stocks were slow in movement. Coppers had a good opening and were strong subsequently. Speculation was animated during the forenoon, but interest was centred mostly upon a few industrials.

LIVERPOOL CONTRIBUTES TO ADVANCE FOR COTTON

New York, April 2.—Developments in Liverpool were largely responsible for a continuation of the upward movement at the opening of the cotton market today. In face of shutting down of Manchester mills for lack of demand, Liverpool prices came higher than due, accompanied by sales of 4,000 bales, all American Old style contracts had a more active opening than yesterday, being 1 to 10 points higher, while new crops were 15 to 24 points higher. At the end of the first 20 minutes the market was 23 to 31 points net higher on new style contracts.

Opening prices were: May old 24.60, new 25.50, July old 22.45, new 22.90, Aug. new 21.45, Oct. old 20.75 bid, new 20.95, Nov. new 20.90 offered, Dec. new 20.45, Jan. old 20.14, new 20.35.

UNITED FRUIT NOT IN LUMBER TRADE

Regarding the Southern rumor that the United Fruit Company will acquire large Florida timber tracts, including an enemy owned plant at Millville in that State, a local financial publication says:

"The company has made no such investment, nor does it contemplate the step. It is putting neither its cash nor its credit into anything of this character.

GILCHRIST GIRLS HOSTESSES TO DOUGHBOYS

Cheerful Workers Entertain 15 Convalescents from Base Hospital 10 at Dance

What could the poor soldier do?

The Gilchrist Cheerful Workers, a group of young women employes of the Gilchrist store, raised funds for the entertainment of wounded soldiers. They invested their hearts and their money last evening when they entertained a merry circle of wounded, convalescing men from Base Hospital No. 10 on Parker Hill, in their club room in the store.

EIGHTEEN GUESTS.

Eighteen soldiers were present—and twenty-eight girl hostesses! And what could the poor soldiers do; as aforesaid. But the dancing program which followed a supper and concert went off without a hitch. Mrs. Anastasia Ward, director of the Girls' Club of Gilchrist's and affectionately referred to as "Mother," arranged the dancing program in such a manner that, to reverse the words of the familiar song, "every lassie had a laddie" for one dance at least.

Sergeant Odilon Cusdeau, D. S. C., formerly of C Company, 103d Infantry, whose home is in Lowell, did not dance, but he enjoyed seeing everyone else having a good time, he said. Sergeant Cusdeau lost his left leg below the knee. One soldier who did dance was John S. Grace of Springfield, Mass. He was with Troop 2, U. S. Cavalry, one of the few cavalry regiments in the war. He was reported dead and remained "dead" for a whole month.

WORE DECORATIONS.

Sergeant J. B. Bourgeois, formerly of H Company, 104th Regiment, was present with the Croix de Guerre and a citation cord on his shoulder. He hails from Worcester. The effects of three wounds received in Belleau Woods did not prevent him from joining in the dances.

Fred Villwock, formerly of the 113th Infantry, 29th Division, had his right arm in a sling and (of course) the girls took turns in feeding him. James T. Chase, superintendent of the store, helped in the entertainment and Felix Vorenberg delivered a touching address.

Foreign Exchange Rates

New York, April 2.—Improvement in sterling rates featured the foreign exchange market this morning, nominal quotations being 4.61½ for cables and 4.60½ for demand. Foreign exchange was dull in all departments, but the market had a steady tone. Other early quotations were: French cables 6.04, checks 6.06; lire cables 7.20, checks 7.25; Swiss cables 5.00, checks 5.03; guilder cables 40¼, checks 40⅛. Pesata cables 20.15, checks 20.05; Stockholm cables 26.90, checks 26.70; Christiania cables 26, checks 25.80; Copenhagen cables 25.20, checks 25.

Ruble notes were nominal at 14 to 14½.

Closing rates were:

	Sterling.	Francs.	Lire.	Guilders
Demand	4.93½	6.06	7.25	40⅛
Cables	4.06½	6.04	7.20	40¼

Swiss cables, 5; Peseta cables, 20.15; Stockholm cables, 26.90.

Imperial Japan Is Rapidly Throwing Off All Disguises

The Reverend Doctor E. D. Soper is out with an apology for Japanese rule in Korea and a denunciation of the Koreans' desire to regain their independence.

Dr. Soper has just come back from Japan. He says that the Korean people are "unfit for self-government." He admits that Japanese rule has been characterized by abuses of power, but asserts that the Koreans have been "better off morally, physically and economically under Japanese control than they were when they were independent."

He explains that the Koreans are only "children," while the Japanese are "adolescents."

It is curious what standing a man can procure in the estimation of many thousands of good people if he has the title of reverend prefixed to his name.

This Soper, who was born in the Orient, is one of those sentimentalists whom the clever Japanese so easily win over when they want to, and is just as much a Japanese propagandist as is Dr. Iyanaga or any special agent of the Japanese autocracy.

The fact that this person calls himself a reverend and is a professor of theology in a New Jersey institution does not add a feather's weight to the value of anything he may have to say about Japan or Korea or China in the estimation of well-informed Americans.

The simple truth about Japan and Korea is that Japan occupied Korea under the convenient diplomatic evasions of a sphere of influence; that upon the pretence of providing an advisor for the Korean Government Japan actually put a resident ruler over Korea; that in order to lull the suspicion and discontent of the United States and other Powers, Japan publicly and solemnly declared and promised that she would not assail the independence of Korea, and would withdraw the forces she had introduced into that defenceless country as soon as Korea had learned modern methods of self-government; and that Japan then, in open violation of that pledge and without any decent excuse whatsoever, proceeded to overthrow the government of Korea; to massacre those Koreans who attempted to defend their government and to set up in Korea a tyranny as ruthless, as svaricious, as cruel and as brutal as that which the Czar formerly exercised over those unhappy provinces which his Cossacks had subdued.

We do not see how the envoys of the civilized Powers at Paris can look in each other's faces and talk piously of the rights of little peoples to self-determination and free government while there sits among them as delegates to this same Peace Conference the representatives of the ruthless and despotic power which holds poor Korea in its grip of blood and iron.

How is it possible for the League of Nations to establish and to protect the doctrine of democracy, self-determination and of free government by the consent of the governed while the envoys of the Korean people are forbidden even to set foot in Paris and are refused passports to cross the ocean by the direct cable order of our own Secretary of State?

And Mr. Lansing has cabled to his subordinates in Washington that "it is not an opportune time" for the Korean delegates to appear in Paris.

We do not forget that a few months ago Mr. Lansing, without any authorization or even consultation with the United States Senate, concluded with the Japanese Ambassador, Ishii, an agreement that was to all intents and purposes a treaty in which the Government of the United States recognized the virtuous conduct of the Japanese Government in its relations with China and Korea and practically pledged the moral support of the United States to the scandalous tyrannies, intrigues and exploitations meditated and practiced by Japan against the other peoples of Asia.

So we do not wonder that Mr. Lansing is personally convinced that "this is not an opportune time" for the envoys of the Korean people to appear before the Peace Conference and there state a few plain truths about their brutally oppressed people.

While we are about it, we might as well say something more about the attitude of Japan—not toward Korea, or toward China, but toward our own country.

The only single aim of Japanese diplomacy, Japanese intrigue and Japanese tyranny is to keep China involved in civil warfare while by threats, barbarities and actual armed violation of Chinese territory the Japanese Government slices off the huge area of Manchuria, and thus extends the Japanese despotism over that vast and prodigiously fertile country.

What Japan wants is the completion of the Black Dragon Empire—that is to say, the formation of a Japanese Empire consisting of Japan, Formosa, Korea and Manchuria. Once this empire is firmly established under the iron rule of the Japanese autocracy Japan can easily make a vassal state of China and then be in position to turn her arms and her vast subject hordes against the United States in a final struggle for the sole possession of the Asiatic trade and the dominion of the Pacific Ocean.

Japanese publicity agents are openly active in Siberia creating Russian hostility to the United States; the Japanese press is inflaming the Japanese people to fury over the failure of the Japanese envoys to incorporate in the constitution of the League of Nations a clause guaranteeing Japanese THE FREE RIGHT OF EMIGRATION into the United States; and in every direction the Japanese Government and the Japanese press are throwing off the disguise of pretended affection for America which has so long and so effectually deceived not only such a poor gull as the Reverend Doctor Soper, but many other Americans who are intelligent enough when they discuss any domestic matter, but are so singularly ignorant and ill-informed in so many foreign matters.

Recently the dispatches from the Orient have brought accounts not only of the butchering of Koreans, but also of the brutal mistreatment of Americans—of our consuls, of individual American soldiers, of American missionaries and of the peoples in American mission schools.

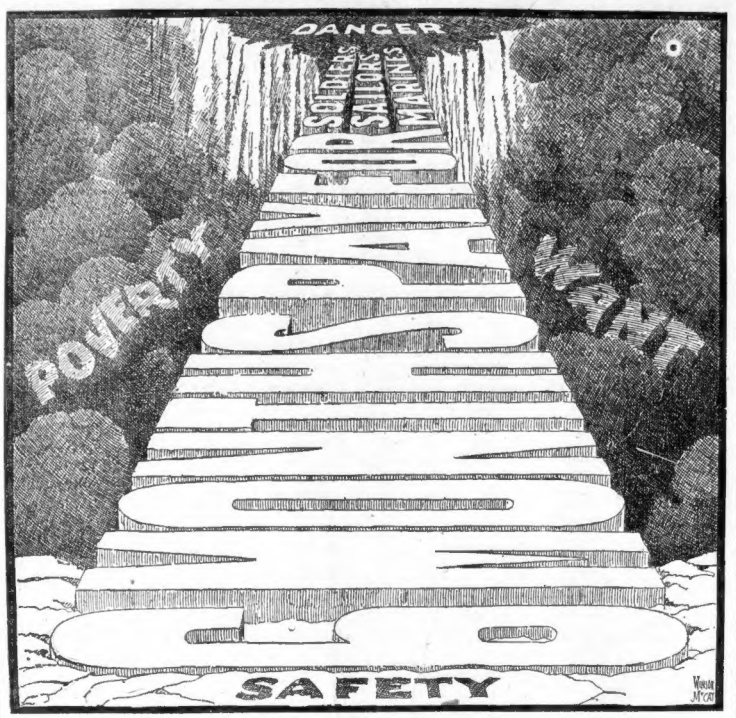

These evidences of Japanese hatred of everything American must rather shock the white rabbits—reverend and otherwise—who have been protesting that Japan was an angelic nation whose only intentions toward America and Americans were those of peace and benevolence.

When we survey the whole field of present foreign relations; when we see Japan taking this hostile attitude toward America and Americans; when we see England taking on the antagonistic attitude of excluding American goods from English markets; when we read of the attacks made by English Tommies upon American soldiers in London; when we see such evidences that these foreign nations are all hostile to and envious of the United States, is it not plain that we should not permit our friendliness and helpfulness to all nations to make us blind to the perils of our own beloved country?

How is it possible to consider for a moment allowing such elements antagonistic to us to control our national policies, to secure unrestricted emigration into our country, to drain our resources to further their wars and ambitions, to decide how many of our boys shall be sent to the ends of the earth, and for what purposes they shall be sent?

WALKER D. Hines.
DIRECTOR OF Railroads.
WASHINGTON, D. C.
MY DEAR Mr. Hines.
COMING OUT of New Orleans.
AT 6 o'clock at night.
ON A railroad train.
WITH A sleeper on it.
THAT GOES to New York.
AND YOU sell me a berth.
AND ALONG about nine.
I GO to bed.
AND THE train stops.
IN A country village.
AND IT'S very quiet.
FOR A minute or two.
AND THE engine whistles.
AND WHEREVER it is.
IT GOT its whistle.
I DON'T know.
BUT IT wasn't a whistle.
IT WAS a moan.
AND RIGHT away.
THERE CAME an answer.
FROM ANOTHER lost soul.
AND A few minutes later.
THE SECOND lost soul.
STOPPED ON a siding.
RIGHT BESIDE my window.
WHERE I was lying down.
AND I looked out.
AND THERE was a colored gentleman.
SHOVELING COAL.
INTO THE fire box.
OF THE second lost soul.
AND IT whistled again.
RIGHT IN my ear.
AT THE open window.
AND THE first engine answered.
AND THEN another.
AND EVERY little while.
THE ENGINE next to me.
WOULD EXPLODE.
AND GET together again.
AND WHISTLE.
AND THE others would answer.
AND FOR how long it lasted.
I DON'T know.
BECAUSE I'D lost my watch.
DOWN UNDER the mattress.
BUT ANYWAY.
IT SEEMED to me.
IT WAS along about midnight.
AND WE started again.
AND I dozed a little.
AND WE came to a stop.
IN A railroad yard.
AND A switch engine came.
AND TOOK our train to pieces.
AND TOOK the pieces.
AND RAN all over the yard.
UNTIL IT won the game.
OR WHATEVER it was.
IT WAS trying to do.
AND ALONG about daylight.
WE GOT together again.
AND A little while later.
IT WAS time to get up.
AND I want to ask you.
IF YOU think it's right.
TO SELL me a berth.
AND THEN whistle at me.
AND PLAY games with me.
WHEN I should have been sleeping.

I THANK you.

Letters to the Editor

"I." Shop Man's Protest

Editor Boston American:

May I have the use of the columns of your paper to ask the riding public of Boston, "which embraces most of us, I guess," to please give me their opinion of the following facts about the B. E. Ry. Co.? A short while ago when you folks had your "hammer" out and were "knocking" us we were inclined to feel rather sore about it. We were working hard every day for the public health, safety and happiness, and we thought we deserved better returns. Why, I don't think there is a fair-minded person in Boston who can truthfully say but what the trains are in better condition now than he ever saw them before. The cars are overhauled at least once a week, they are swept and dusted every night, the windows and the paint are cleaned at least once a week. The brakes, trucks, in fact the whole car, is overhauled every day. And this is all for the public safety and health. As I mentioned, we were inclined to resent the criticism when we were doing the best we could. But now we have a grievance. Will you folks please tell me what you think of a transportation company that refuses their employes transportation? I am not referring to blue uniform men, you understand, they can ride; but we shop men in order to ride must pay a fare. Until a short time ago we were allowed to cross the tracks at Sullivan square to the terminal, thus saving one fare. But when the Everett trains were put in service we were told the danger was too great and that we must stop crossing the tracks. But the foremen who hold passes are allowed to cross the tracks. Furthermore, if we wish to wash up at night we are obliged to do it on our own time. Show me a firm in Boston that does not allow their help time to wash up. I thank you.

Veterans' Preference

Editor Boston American:

I sincerely hope you will find a little place in your paper for this, as I know of no Boston paper that has had the courage to take the stand for the common people as you have. There is a bill now before the Legislature giving the men who went across the preference in the line of promotion in the police department. If that ever becomes a law how can any man conscientiously expect a policeman to give full value to the citizens, knowing that all there is before him is to tramp the bricks while he is on the department? That's common sense. Every man, even the Governor, has in his day looked for the position he now enjoys, and I am glad to see any man work himself up. Isn't there any consideration for the rest of us that were in the draft, but were not called, also those who didn't come within the age who did their bit by assisting the government all they possibly could in buying Liberty Bonds, their children buying War Savings Stamps, collecting information for the secret service men, and all the rest? I hope the members of the Legislature will not decry the department, which it will surely do if no encouragement is held out for these other ——.

A Member of the Department.

Change Constitution

Editor Boston American:

Your editorial on Oscar Straus and Lord Shaw is good. Mr. Shaw is right, we should "bethink" ourselves about our constitution, it needs changes. For instance, in the Boston Navy Yard there is one department where each official there was born in England, while lots of good "American-born" men are without a job. Tell me, if you please, what is the advantage of being an "American-born" citizen, when Englishmen and Germans, foreign-born citizens, may ride over head with the king's pull, and these men would be more loyal to the king than they would to American? Why not change the constitution and give the "American-born" the preference?

WHICH SHALL CROSS ATLANTIC FIRST?

With feverish haste the British government, the French government and the American navy are racing to see which can make the first crossing of the Atlantic. Which shall be first? A race to North or South Pole is as nothing compared to this. The successful crossing of the ocean will mark a new epoch in world transportation; it will turn a new page in history. It will open up tremendous possibilities — significant in peace and of vital importance in case of war." All about it in the next

Prelates of Various Parts of That Country Demand That Erin Be Made Free

In this symposium most of the Irish bishops deal with the attempt to deny Ireland her rights of nationhood, and some allude in strong terms to the hypocrisy, tyranny and Prussianism of the methods employed to keep her in subjection.

The views of Cardinal Logue, Bishop Fogarty of Killaloe and Bishop McKenna of Clogher have already been printed. Others will follow during the week.

(Copyright, 1919, by the International News Bureau, Inc., Boston, Mass.)

Most Rev. Dr. Gilmartin

(Archbishop of Tuam)

THOUGH we may differ in the details of politics we are all united in the prayer that the wrongs of Ireland will soon be righted. We rejoice that today she stands knocking at the gates of liberty, not as a beggar, but as a nation old in centuries, young in her manhood, strong in the justice of her claims, and calm in the divine hope that truth must prevail in the end.

Most Rev. Dr. O'Donnell

(Bishop of Raphoe)

The Pope's peace proposals, which would have saved the world incalculable loss in blood and treasure had they been accepted, have in substance a relationship of close kindred to the propositions subsequently laid down by President Wilson, which victors and vanquished in the end agreed to accept as the basis of an armistice leading to peace.

More he would have gladly done had he not been despoiled of the influence in International affairs by which he could investigate and judge, arbitrate and settle the issues at stake between the belligerents.

It was a grievous wrong done that governments conspired in secret treaties to exclude the representatives of the Pope from taking any steps having for their object the conclusion of peace or the settlement of the questions that must arise on the termination of hostilities. Such action should open the eyes of those who have been blaming the Pope for not condemning flagrant outrages on public law during the war.

Eulogy of America

It is a blessing from Providence that is greatly enhanced by the fact that the American democracy, with its marvellous capacity to pick out good men for the headship of the States, placed some years ago in the presidential chair a citizen who knows how to give admirable and fearless expressions to the doctrine of right among nations. . . .

It was a new experience for grasping governments in the old world to be told by one whom they cannot afford to despise that weak nations and strong have equal rights, and that justice, good will and friendship are the fundamental bonds of peace. . . .

The draft of the covenant that is proposed for establishing a League of Nations, with all its great merits, does not secure equality the rights of weak and strong nations, and it hinders rather than helps any small nationality which is subject to one of the high contracting parties, and has not yet been guaranteed its freedom. The League would, in the main, be a coalition of the nations that have been victorious in the great war, a league of five great powers and their somewhat dependent friends.

Count for Little

Of the half-dozen great powers that held away in pre-war Europe three wide empires, for their sins, count for little in the new arrangement, and the neutral countries count for little also. The constitution of the League means an Anglo-American compact in defence of peace, with collateral partners in Europe and in the Far East. Under the proposed covenant, an American-British combination, with strong Latin and stronger Oriental props, is to sustain the peace of nations.

However splendid its structure, the League is not a federation of the world. A rival coalition might appear, and then that other world war break out that would wreck civilization.

But apart from any outside combination, the aim of the League of Nations to save the human family from another great war will not be attained unless conscription is banned, armaments enormously reduced and arbitration substituted for the gage of battle. There will be no lasting peace if the rights of Ireland and the rights of labor are not secured.

April Fool Bread Line
Diamonds No Cheaper
830,000 Acres for Japan
Four Japanese to the Acre

—By Arthur Brisbane

(Copyright, 1919)

The bread line has started in New York, for the first time in several years. Announcement was made yesterday, and it was no April food joke, but fact. Those that apply for the bread and coffee include hundreds of skilled mechanics daily. Mr. Ledoux, who distributes the food, says that about one hundred thousand are now unemployed on the East Side of New York. That is something to be attended to by those interested in discouraging Bolshevism.

Labor is not in demand as it was, but diamonds and pearls have not fallen off, on the contrary. John Haack, the New York diamond merchant, who celebrated his 35th birthday the other day, still sells diamonds and pearls, but shakes his head when you ask the price. Before the war it was one hundred dollars a karat for a good white diamond. Now it is three hundred dollars.

He used to sell a ten-grain pearl for one hundred dollars. Now that kind of a pearl costs four hundred. Men are able to keep up the price of diamonds and pearls and push prices steadily higher. But they cannot keep up the price of labor, although labor is necessary. Diamonds and pearls not necessary.

The explanation as regards diamonds is found in a powerful, invincible union. They produce more diamonds than ever in South Africa. If they were dumped on the market the price would fall to ten dollars a karat. But the diamond mine union is strong and the price stays up.

Labor unions are not so strong. Workmen, unlike diamonds and pearls, get hungry, cannot be put away in safes to wait until the market rises.

From Paris comes news that the Peace League will include a "world labor bureau." It will represent an effort to regulate labor price, demand, hours for men, women and children all over the world. A big problem, but undertaken some too soon.

Values have been regulated for centuries on gold, silver and precious stones. The value of a living human being has been left to the winds of chance. High pay today, no work tomorrow. The bread line next day.

Intelligence is lacking somewhere.

The Legislature of Michigan makes it a felony to indulge in "criminal syndicalism," which means "advocating sabotage, violence, or other terrorism," to accomplish raises in wages, etc. A good idea. Terrorism should be a crime everywhere. When it develops in a labor union the law can reach it.

What about reaching men at the capital of New York State, who have gone with a corruption fund of $500,000 to bribe the Legislature to let them steal from the working people of New York city thirty million dollars annually by an increase in street car fares? Those men who bribe officials that they may rob the public are worse criminals, more dangerous to their own class than any gutter advocate of sabotage.

If, as you consider the question of Japanese colonizing on this continent, your heart says "POOR Japan, we must be kind," remember that Japan has protected herself against Chinese coolies as thoroughly as California intends to be protected against Japanese labor.

The Japanese will not allow their cousins, the Chinese, to come in, cut wages and seize opportunity in Japan. If that is all right for the Japanese in Asia, why is it wrong for Americans in America?

The "little tract of land" which it is now explained the Japanese in Mexicain Lower California, is are getting from private owners eight hundred and thirty thousand acres. With their intensive cultivation, one acre will support four Japanese. You have there the possibility of a Japanese colony of more than three millions in one corner of Mexico. How long would it take that to grow into twenty-five millions, and how long would it take twenty-five million Japanese south of the Rio Grande to grow into a problem far bigger than the late war?
